Editorial

by Tyler Forkes
Voyageur@sl.on.ca

The Alumni Office is pleased to present the re-launch of St. Lawrence Voyageur, the magazine for alumni and friends of St. Lawrence College. As you will have noticed, our new cover design places the emphasis on "St. Lawrence," while maintaining our traditional Voyageur roots. The move to full colour and glossy paper has allowed us to bring the College's premier communications vehicle in line with the highest quality publications produced by any institution, anywhere.

It is important to note that this leap in the magazine's evolution has been made possible by the support and generosity of the students of St. Lawrence, through the Student Governments of all three of the College's campuses. Their understanding of the importance placed on Voyageur by the alumni, as well as their vision for Voyageur to be one of the very best, resulted in the allocation of additional fees targeted specifically for these improvements. To all of these "future alumni," we offer our sincere thanks!

The re-launch of Voyageur is timely, in that the first issue of the magazine was published in the spring of 1991, ten years ago. Frank Lockington and Robin Pepper were the first Co-editors, and deserve credit for formulating the concept, getting those early issues out into the hands of grads, and initiating the alumni communications network. Bob Droppo, Graphic Designer, has been responsible for the layout and design of Voyageur since its inception. Voyageur has grown from a circulation of less than 4,000 in 1991, to well over 35,000 today.

We are certainly proud of the "new and improved" Voyageur, and hope that you are as well. Your thoughts and comments are always welcome, and we look forward to hearing from you!

Editor's Note:

Just as this issue of Voyageur was going to press, we were witness to the tragic acts of terrorism which took place in New York and Washington. On behalf of the staff, students, and alumni of St. Lawrence College, I would like to express our deepest condolences and heartfelt sympathy to our neighbours, graduates and friends living in the United States. Our thoughts and prayers are with you in this most difficult time.

David Salmon

Business Administration - Marketing (B) '83

The experts say that you can expect to change your job four or five times throughout your career. David Salmon is currently in his seventh position, this time as the President and Chief Operating Officer of his own company, BeverageOne.

According to its corporate web site, www.beverageone.com, BeverageOne is a software company that specializes in web-enabled wireless technology. The software is designed for use by wholesalers and distributors, and addresses sales force automation, customer service automation, management information systems and data collection. Salmon runs the day-to-day operations of the company, and he and his partner own the majority interest.

As you might expect, you don't just jump into this type of position straight out of College. Salmon's career path has been an interesting and successful journey up the corporate ladder.

"My career has been in marketing and general management," says Salmon. "I began my career with Sears Canada as an Assistant Buyer in their head office in Toronto. After that I was 'head-hunted' back to Brockville, where I was hired as the Product Manager for Black & Decker, heading up the majority of their new product development initiatives. Then I returned to Toronto, accepting the position of Brand Manager with a division of Corby Canada. My responsibilities there included the strategic management and development of a multi-branded wine and spirits portfolio. This led to an opportunity with Corby's parent company of Louisville, Kentucky. I was offered the position of Director of Sales for Maker's Mark, where my job was to launch and develop the company's product into the international marketplace. After two years I was promoted to Vice President of Global Brand Development, which encompassed all of my previous duties, plus the management of the U.S. business and responsibility for all aspects of brand marketing, and day-to-day management of all non-production aspects of the business. During my tenure with Makers Mark I was responsible for growing the business so that the brand is now within the top 10-selling bourbon brands globally and the top five premium brands globally. In 1998 I was offered the opportunity to move to a senior position within the North American headquarters of Allied Domecq, Maker's Mark parent company in Connecticut."

During this time, Salmon had begun to have discussions with a colleague (now his business partner) about the potential for a new business concept he had been developing. His extensive management background, coupled with the knowledge he had gained in the wine and spirits industry on a global level, made him confident that he could successfully launch his own business. During the period of time when he was preparing to "go solo," he accepted a position as Director of Marketing for Kentucky Fried Chicken, and in a period of one year was able to initiate a new business concept and put in place the strategy that has stopped the erosion of KFC's core business.

"My career has been one with great opportunity," explains Salmon. "I have been lucky to experience all aspects of operating a company and developing brands in numerous businesses. All of this has given me a better understanding and ability to develop and manage my own business."

"I have always been interested in marketing and business management," he continues. "I guess what excites me is the ability to see things grow from concept, knowing that I played a role in it. I have also always been driven to lead," says Salmon, the former President of Brockville's Student Administrative Council. "I enjoy managing projects and teams of people. It is very exciting and fulfilling to work with people and see them develop and grow within their careers."

Bernard Clark

*Fine Arts (K) '85
Certificate in Photography*

Living life, through the lens...

Peter Milliken, click! The Tragically Hip, click! The Headstones, click! Atom Egoyan, click! These are a few of the faces in a portfolio of really exceptional photographs. And, the man behind the lens is St. Lawrence alumnus, Bernard Clark.

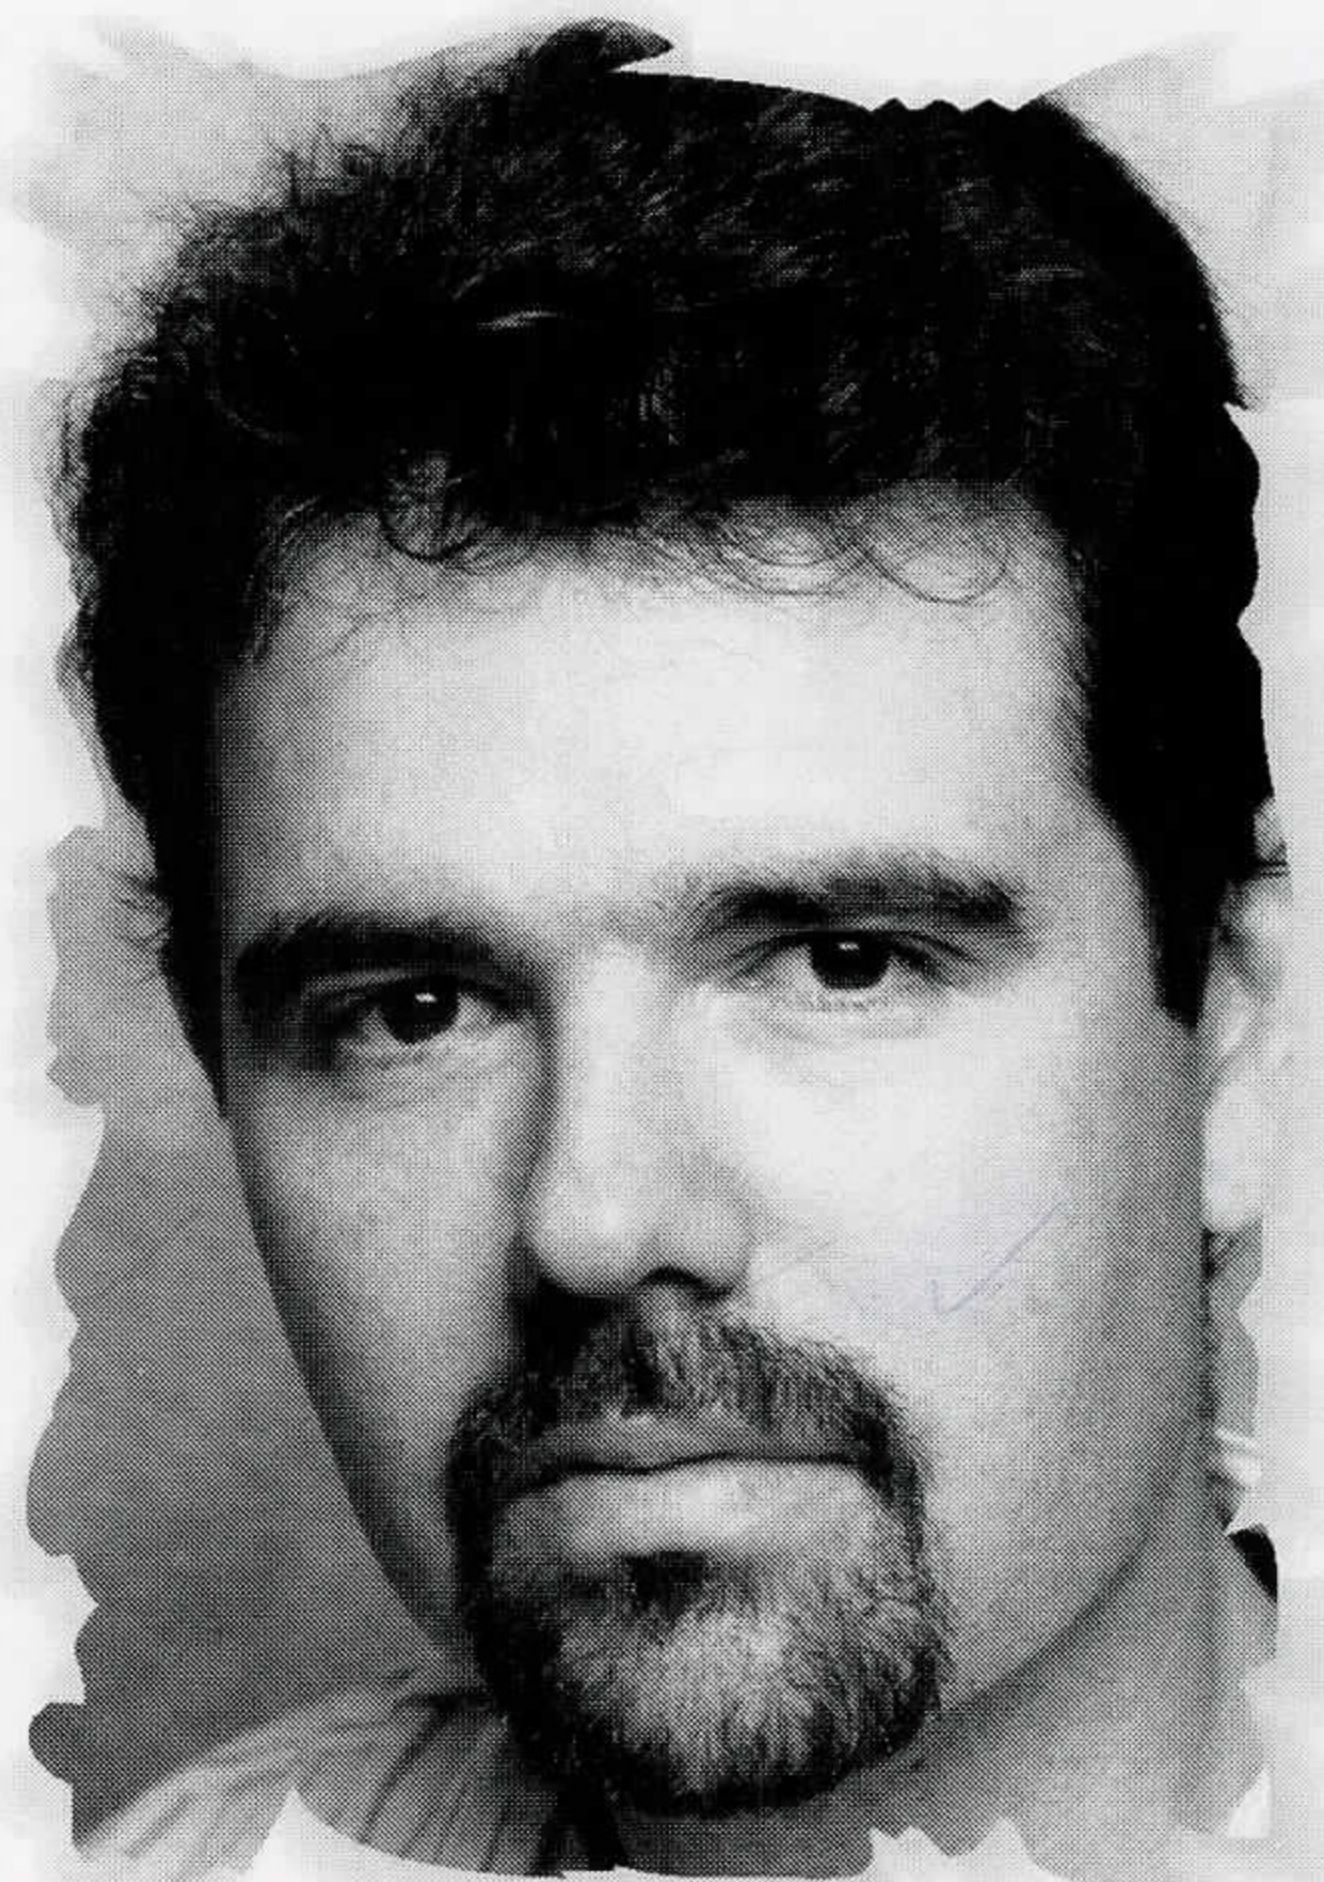

A graduate of the College's photography program in 1985, Bernard's career as a professional photographer has really taken off. Bernard's work is well recognized across eastern Ontario. His photos appear regularly in Profile magazine and a variety of specialty magazines, corporate publications and annual reports.

A native of Kingston and a graduate of Ernestown Secondary School, Bernard initially considered St. Lawrence for its Graphic Design program. However, once he arrived at the College in the early 1980's, he soon shifted his focus to photography and has never looked back.

"I always felt really comfortable at the College," he says. "One of my main instructors was Emel Erkan. He was certainly a big influence on me. Now I try to give a little back to the College by coming into classes to speak to students about the industry, my career and my travel experiences."

Following graduation, Bernard began his work in the field with a position at CFB Kingston. Within a couple of years, he was off to Toronto where he practiced his profession for several years. Bernard returned to Kingston in the early 1990's and started his own business, Bernard Clark Photography.

"It's ironic that I moved back to Kingston from Toronto because I am actually doing a lot of work there right now," he explains. "Most of my work right now is for magazine publications, the advertising industry and some corporate clients. I don't have a studio of my own because I actually prefer to go on location for shots. When I got into business for myself 11 years ago, it was the opportunity to meet a variety of interesting people that attracted me to look at this area rather than a permanent studio doing portrait work."

This business strategy has served Bernard well and provides him with some very exciting travel opportunities. One of Bernard's current clients is a California based publication called "Skin & Ink". Dedicated to the art of tattooing, he has done several covers for the magazine. Next month, Bernard is off to Samoa, north of New Zealand on a two week excursion to photograph people there for a new book he has been commissioned to work on.

Among the other major achievements to note include his work on the Juno Award winning album cover of The Tragically Hip's Phantom Power. Bernard has also produced work for Cottage Life Magazine and Canadian Geographic.

Bernard is planning for the launch of a new website to promote his work and his business. You'll be able to find him this fall at www.bernardclark.com.

A recent shoot in New York City found Bernard outside David Letterman's studio photographing tattooed people on the street.

Cathy Moise

Social Service Worker (C) '95

Think you're busy? Take a look at the picture accompanying this article. How'd you like to take a social work program and look after that gang at the same time? The youngest of them were two year old twins when the journey began. Cathy Moise is the woman at the left in the photo. A mother of five children, Cathy always wanted to work in the school system. After discussion with her husband, she decided the best route to her dream was through the Social Service Worker program at our Cornwall campus. As you can imagine, homework and study often had to wait 'til the children's needs were met. And Cathy's husband works long hours running his grocery store which is just up the street from the campus. He gave tremendous support to Cathy's aspirations and Cathy is obviously grateful when she talks about him.

Cathy had worked in an office environment prior to starting her family. She had not pursued a post secondary education. When she first returned to school she had doubts about her academic readiness. This combined with the demands of the young family caused her to start her program with part time study. This gave her a feel for things and she realized that her ability was greater than she'd assumed. She got high grades. One of her teachers, Diane Lalonde, remembers Cathy as a top student. Diane knows a thing or two about combining a career with family responsibilities. Her comment on Cathy: "It takes a special person to get straight A's while raising five kids." Obviously Cathy's classmates respected her. They chose her to be their spokesperson at graduation. Reflecting their values and the values of the program she pursued with dedication, Cathy still remembers the themes of her valedictory address. She spoke about Honour, Optimism, Perseverance and Enthusiasm.

These are qualities that Cathy took with her to the work world after that graduation. Her dream of working in the school system came true very quickly. Cathy was hired to work with a very special student in an elementary school. This young person had Cerebral Palsy and needed constant support, physical and emotional, to cope with the demands the able bodied world takes for granted. On a daily basis, Cathy provided the manipulation of limbs and other exercises prescribed by doctors and designed by physiotherapists. With support from the school, Cathy developed and implemented the Circle of Friends program to help this disabled youngster integrate with other children in the school. The best part of this experience, says Cathy, was seeing her young charge grow in confidence, despite the ongoing challenges of her condition, repeated surgical interventions and a much hated set of leg braces needed for support when briefly out of the wheelchair.

Cathy is entering a new phase in her career this fall. From work with a physically challenged child she is now going to work with older children who present behaviour problems. Her teachers know that she will respond to the challenge. Anita Lauzon-Savage remembers Cathy as a 'gentle soul'. Cathy in turn tries to pattern her work on that of Anita. "The things she believes in are the things I believe in; she's fair but tough" says Cathy.

The Social Service Worker program is proud of Cathy's success after graduation and continues to send well prepared, caring people into the community to help others who need it.

Kingston Expansion Project Underway

by Frank Lockington

The first phase of the $22 million expansion of the Kingston campus is now underway.

Renovations to the Veterinary Technology Labs in the School of Health Science started in early summer and are expected to be complete early this fall. In Stormont Hall, students will be exposed to a new animal handling facility, surgical theatre and new labs.

The remaining two phases of the project, a "link building" which will connect the Leeds Hall to the main building and the expansion of the Learning Resource Centre and dining hall are expected to get underway in early November. An official ground breaking ceremony and opening of the new VetTech facility is planned for November 1st.

The expansion project, which is scheduled for completing for the fall of 2003, will create an additional 1200 spaces for students to study full time at St. Lawrence College. The opening of the new facility will coincide with what is known as the "double cohort". In 2003, high schools across the province are expected to eliminate the traditional grade 13 and students in the four and five-year streams of study will graduate at the same time and be seeking access to post secondary education.

St. Lawrence will be ready to accommodate these additional students with new facilities and a host of challenging programs. By fall 2003, full time enrolment is expected to approach 5,000 and part - time studies will see close to 20,000 registrations annually at the campus.

The expansion project will be funded through a grant from the Ministry of Training, Colleges & Universities, business partnerships and private donations.

St. Lawrence Student Projects To Be Patented by Mitel Networks

by Luetta
Trenholme
and
Ian Crawford

Exciting news came late in the final semester for some of Kingston's Computer Engineering Technology and Electronics Engineering Technology graduating students. The students had the opportunity to show off their group projects to Mitel, where it was announced that three of the projects would be patented. As part of their program, students choose a work project for a client in September and work on it throughout the year. Students juggle classes, tests, and school activities to maintain client meetings and finish their projects. Between the two programs, a total of 8 software projects and 3 hardware projects were developed. SmartLogs 2 is software that allows Mitel engineers to accurately identify problems in telecommunication equipment or software through a web browser. The design of SmartLogs allows it to be used anywhere in the enterprise where a status log is generated. This beneficial research will help designers, engineers, and technicians pinpoint problems quickly and accurately, saving time and energy in the maintenance process.

The students who worked on Smartlogs were David Fram, James Hughes, Jon Moller, Kristan Stewart, and Ryan Taylor from the Computer Engineering Technology Program. 'Software Tuple Space' allows applications and devices to communicate with each other from a central location. Tuple spaces work on and will eventually allow applications to cooperate over the Internet. The project developed extensions to tuple spaces that will greatly improve its capability in handling the quick interaction needed for applications that cooperate to give service to users. The students who worked these projects to protect the valuable intellectual property that was created within them. The work done by the students showed that they have a firm grasp on technology and have the capability to design solutions for difficult real world problems," said Tom Gray, Manager – Technology Research and Engineering for Mitel Networks.

on the Tuple project were John Day, Ian Lakins, Oriane Leger, Wayne Young, and Wendy Young from the Computer Engineering Technology Program. The 'Hardware Tuple Space' project extended the basic tuple space idea to handle situations in which numerous applications are cooperating to manage interactions among multiple users. The speed provided by a hardware solution enables the tuple space idea to be extended to accommodate very large systems. The students who worked on the Hardware project were Charles Rae and Derrek Wood from the Electronics Engineering Technology Program.

College Professor Dr. Colin Banger provided technical support on the SmartLogs and Tuple Space projects, with Professor David Athersych co-supervising the Tuple Space project. Professor Aubert Pereira supervised the Hardware Tuple Space project.

"Mitel will patent the outcome of

Coordinator at Mitel and project leader also added, "SmartLogs has the potential to be incorporated into Mitel's product lines and internal development tools in the near future, while the Tuple Space projects will continue to be researched. These students are inventors," said Trevor Rainey, Coordinator of the Computer Engineering Technology Program. "The industry is now recognizing these outstanding achievements. The experience that the students receive using the latest in technology is extremely valuable. These research concepts for Mitel are a great opportunity for both parties." Kasvand referred to St. Lawrence College as "Mitel's hidden diamond." "While other companies scour Canada and the globe for young talent, we've found it in our backyard."

SLC to Issue New Student Life Transcripts

Grads can also Expand their Alumni Profile

by Tyler Forkes

St. Lawrence College understands that not all learning takes place in a classroom. Through active participation in extracurricular activities, students can develop skills such as: goal setting, commitment, teamwork, time management, and leadership. These qualities complement students' academic achievements, and produce more well-rounded graduates. That's why St. Lawrence is leading all other Colleges in Ontario by being the first to offer a new Student Life Transcript.

A Student Life Transcript will complement our traditional Academic Transcript, and will formally document individuals' extracurricular participation and achievements. Activities eligible for documentation on the transcript include things like: holding a position on Student Government, acting as a peer tutor, or playing on a varsity sports team. A complete list of activities is listed on the right.

Upon graduation, the information from individuals' Student Life transcript will be transferred to their alumni record. This will assist the Alumni Office in identifying grads for special reunions, etc. Current alumni can expand their alumni record in this area by sending in a new Alumni Record Form (page 32, or online at www.sl.on.ca/alumni), outlining their own significant extracurricular involvement.

The first initiative of its kind in an Ontario College, St. Lawrence's Student Life Transcript is a joint venture between the College's Student Governments, Student Services, and the Alumni Office.

College Presents Honorary Diplomas

by Frank Lockington

Each year, the Board of Governors of St. Lawrence College recognizes the outstanding achievements of individuals or groups whose accomplishments are of such excellence, inspiration and leadership that they serve as an example for the graduates of our College. At convocation ceremonies held last spring, a total of five Honorary Diplomas of the College were presented.

In Brockville, Bruce Wylie, a community leader and local radio personality, was presented with his diploma at ceremonies held at the Brockville Arts Centre.

In Cornwall, Smart City Cornwall, a community that brings together a variety of public and private sector organizations for the promotion, enhancement and development of the Cornwall region, was recognized. Accepting the award on behalf of their organization was Mark Smelko, Chair, and Bob Peters, Vice-Chair, of Smart

City Cornwall. At afternoon ceremonies in Cornwall, Elaine Kennedy received her diploma, recognizing her outstanding contribution to the St. Lawrence River Institute and the field of education.

At the Kingston campus, Honorary Diplomas were presented to Kingston business leader, Jay Abramsky for his work in community development. Geoff Smith, Vice President of Business Development for Mitel Networks, accepted an Honorary Diploma presented in his company's name. Mitel has worked very closely with faculty and students in the School of Engineering Technology and Trades in recent years and has supported several student projects that Mitel has applied to patent.

Nominations for Honorary Diplomas are sought on an ongoing basis. For more information, inquiries can be directed to the College's Alumni & Development Office or visit our website at www.sl.on.ca

Post-Graduate Program in Technical Communications Slated for Fall 2002

by Jean Pfleiderer

Interested in a writing career? A post-graduate program, slated for Fall 2002 at the Kingston campus, could be your ticket to the growing field of technical writing.

The Technical Communications program, according to Arlene Cronin, Director of Academic Planning, will serve graduates of St. Lawrence and other colleges and universities. It will hone those writing skills most in demand in science and industry. The one year program will be a mix of classes and work placement. Most courses will be offered on-line as well as in the classroom.

In support of the new program, an on-line course, "Fundamentals of Technology," is being offered this fall through Continuing Education. Designed for applicants to the program whose diploma or degree is not in a technical field, anyone who wants to be up to speed about today's technologies can take the course. "Fundamentals of Technology" is a web-based concepts course that explores a range of engineering, manufacturing, transportation, communications, and information system technologies.

Registration is through Continuing Education. For more information please e-mail Jean Pfleiderer at jpfleiderer@sl.on.ca.

Mitel Patent Student Wins Highest Honour

At St. Lawrence's convocation ceremony, it was announced that Computer Engineering Technology graduate Kristan Stewart (who had worked on the SmartLogs 2 portion of the Mitel project-see page 8) was the recipient of one of the country's highest scholastic accolades. Stewart was presented with the Governor General's Academic Medal for having achieved the highest grade point average in any diploma program.

"I was awestruck," said the Ottawa native, who had been hired by an Ottawa software development firm in February. Stewart also made the President's List for service to the College and won the Computer Engineering Technology Faculty Award for her academic performance, enthusiasm and classroom contributions.

Fun in the Sun for SLC Staff and Alumni at the Brockville Corporate Challenge

by Keith Hare

Employees and alumni of the College teamed up for a day of hilarious outdoor games at the 17th Annual Brockville Corporate Challenge in June.

The weather was dry, but because of the water-themed games, participants were soaked by mid-day. Competing against 19 other companies from the Brockville area, participants were "challenged" by nine events such as the "Ball Chaser," "Fill the Bottle," and the "Shaving Cream Shoot-Off," which had the teams laughing from start to finish.

The event raised a record $3,400 for local charities. St. Lawrence was among the major sponsors of the event.

St. Lawrence was represented by Brent Ball, Tara Chenier, Courtney Donovan, Linda Feig, Keith Hare, Heather Murdock, and Jack Tennant, as well as special alumni guests Lori Ball, Shannon Gill and Rene Melchers.

For more information, visit the Brockville Corporate Challenge web page at: www.sl.on.ca/corporatechallenge.htm.

Exclusive Interview with SLC President by Peter Milliken

In June, Peter Milliken, MP for Kingston and the Islands and the Honourable Speaker of the House, conducted an exclusive 30 minute interview with SLC President Volker Thomsen on Milliken's "Parliamentary Report" Cablenet show.

Thomsen covered new programs at the College, the articulation agreement with the State University of New York at Potsdam, tri-campus Skills Training Centres, the $22,000,000 expansion at the Kingston Campus and the erection of a wind turbine on Windmill Point at the Cornwall Campus which will produce some of the electricity for the campus, and provide educational opportunities for local schools.

The show was aired repeatedly during the summer on local Cablenet stations throughout the tri-campus region.

Salmon, who met his wife Sharon at the College, acknowledges the role that St. Lawrence played in preparing him for his career. "From the great professors with practical experience who challenged us in our courses, to the environment of the school, it was great. As the SAC President I gained experience in running and managing an organization, plus I was able to work with the Board and gain valuable experience on the overall operation of an organization. I am a great believer that you get out of things what you put in. People should get involved. You are the master of your own destiny. By getting involved you play a role in the future."

The First CVDT Graduates

by Barb Donaldson

The first graduates from the Canadian Veterinary Dental Technician (CVDT) program offered by the College's Kingston campus have been announced. Vicki Bowen, Tanya Lee, Christa Murr, Stacey Ortuein, Michele Wallace, France Filiatreault, Shelley Packer, and Maureen Page (an SLC grad), completed the post-graduate course for veterinary technicians / technologists.

The CVDT programs allows Vet Techs the opportunity to gain more knowledge and skill in the field of veterinary dentistry. Barbary Donaldson, Professor, Veterinary Technology, and Dr. Fraser Hale, Board certified Veterinary Dentist, work together with students on a part-time basis.

The course consists of home study, a two-day et lab delivered at the College by Dr. Hale, the collection of 100 dental cases, assignments, and a final exam. The course can be completed in one year, but the average timeframe is two years. It is indeed a commitment on the part of the people who enroll in the course.

Graduates from the program have learned about dental equipment use, care and maintenance, radiography, charting and record-keeping. They have a thorough knowledge of dental anatomy, pathophysiology and oral hygiene procedure. They have also been instructed in client education and homecare techniques. With these skills, the graduates will be extremely valuable members of the veterinary dental health-care team.

This is the only veterinary dental technician's course in Canada and the first Canadian specialty program. St. Lawrence is proud to be a part of the team leading Vet Techs into the future.

Eighth Annual St. Lawrence College Foundation Golf Tournament

The eighth Annual St. Lawrence College Foundation Golf Tournament was held on May 31 at the Loyalist Golf Club in Bath.

The Tournament was completely sold out for the second consecutive year, with 144 golfers representing members of our alumni and staff, the College's corporate partners, business and industry, and friends. Participants enjoyed sunny weather, a beautiful course, and great hospitality.

At the end of the day, this special "friend-raising" and "fundraising" event generated a record $13, 823 for the St. Lawrence College Foundation. Proceeds have been directed to support the College's 2001 - 2002 Annual Appeal for Campus Priorities.

Special thanks go out to our new Major Tournament Sponsor, Meloche Monnex Insurance, represented by Brigitte Goulard, Vice President of the Affinity Marketing Group.

2001 - 2002
Annual Appeal for Campus Priorities

Foundation Annual Appeal

On behalf of the St. Lawrence College Foundation, we would like to take this opportunity to introduce our alumni and friends to the targets for our 2001 - 2002 Annual Appeal for Campus Priorities.

As you know, the College recently launched a new organizational model, including the appointment of Regional Campus Directors, and a renewed sense of campus autonomy. By working closely with the individual campuses to determine their highest student-centered priorities, the Foundation is confident that this year's Annual Appeal will win your support, and make a real difference to the specific needs of the students at each of the College's three campuses.

Brockville and Kingston Campuses:
"Enhancing Classroom Technology"

Both Brockville and Kingston have embraced an "enhancing technology in the classroom" theme. This will take the specific form of purchasing instructional capital items such as data projectors, which will allow our instructors to move from overhead projectors to state of the art Power Point presentations.

The availability of these technologies, which are quickly becoming industry standards, will ensure that our students are accustomed to this emerging technology, and will enhance the quality of their educational experience. By placing these data projectors in the most utilized classrooms, St. Lawrence will impact the maximum number of students.

Other types of instructional technology in demand include: digital cameras for internet work, DVD players, CD burners, and scanners.

Cornwall Campus:
"Enhancing Student Life"

The success of the Sharks Hockey Team has given the campus something to cheer about in recent years, and Cornwall would like to be in a position to build and expand on these types of Student Life activities. In addition to sports events, there is demand for Student Life programming in the areas of theater arts, culture and music.

As well as being a proven method for helping to keep students in school, students who are actively involved in Student Life on campus build highly sought-after personal qualities such as: goal setting, time management, commitment, teamwork, fair play, and leadership. This personal development complements the academic learning which takes place in the classroom, and enhances the well-rounded profile of our graduates.

Strong Internal Support for Annual Appeal

St. Lawrence's internal staff members have "put their money where their mouth is" by giving their personal financial support to the 2001 - 2002 Annual Appeal for Campus Priorities. College staff were solicited for contributions in the spring, and have responded in record numbers.

Annual Appeal Coordinator, Tyler Forkes, is thrilled with the results. "Our staff have really risen to the challenge," he says, "and we are all proud of these results. It shows that we believe in the good things that are going on at St. Lawrence. We also hope that this sends an inspirational message to members of our alumni and to corporate friends, whom we encourage to join us in making this our most successful Appeal to date."

Highlights of the Internal Phase of this year's appeal include:

- total pledges in excess of $14,000.
- pledges from more than 23 % of staff.
- 100 % participation from members of the College's Executive Committee and Management Team.

Time to make a smart career move...

Why not make a move to Cornwall.

The local economy is strong. Existing companies are expanding their operations.

A number of new industries are making the smart move and opening facilities here as well.

All of this economic expansion means the job market is healthy with plenty of opportunities to find work and receive on-the-job training.

There is also a need for those with technical skills and even some openings at the management level.

Cornwall is a great place to live. Housing here is some of the most affordable in Ontario with a blend of styles – from downtown apartments to river-front homes – from which to choose.

The area offers lots of options for R&R with golfing, fishing, boating, biking paths and hiking trails all at your doorstep.

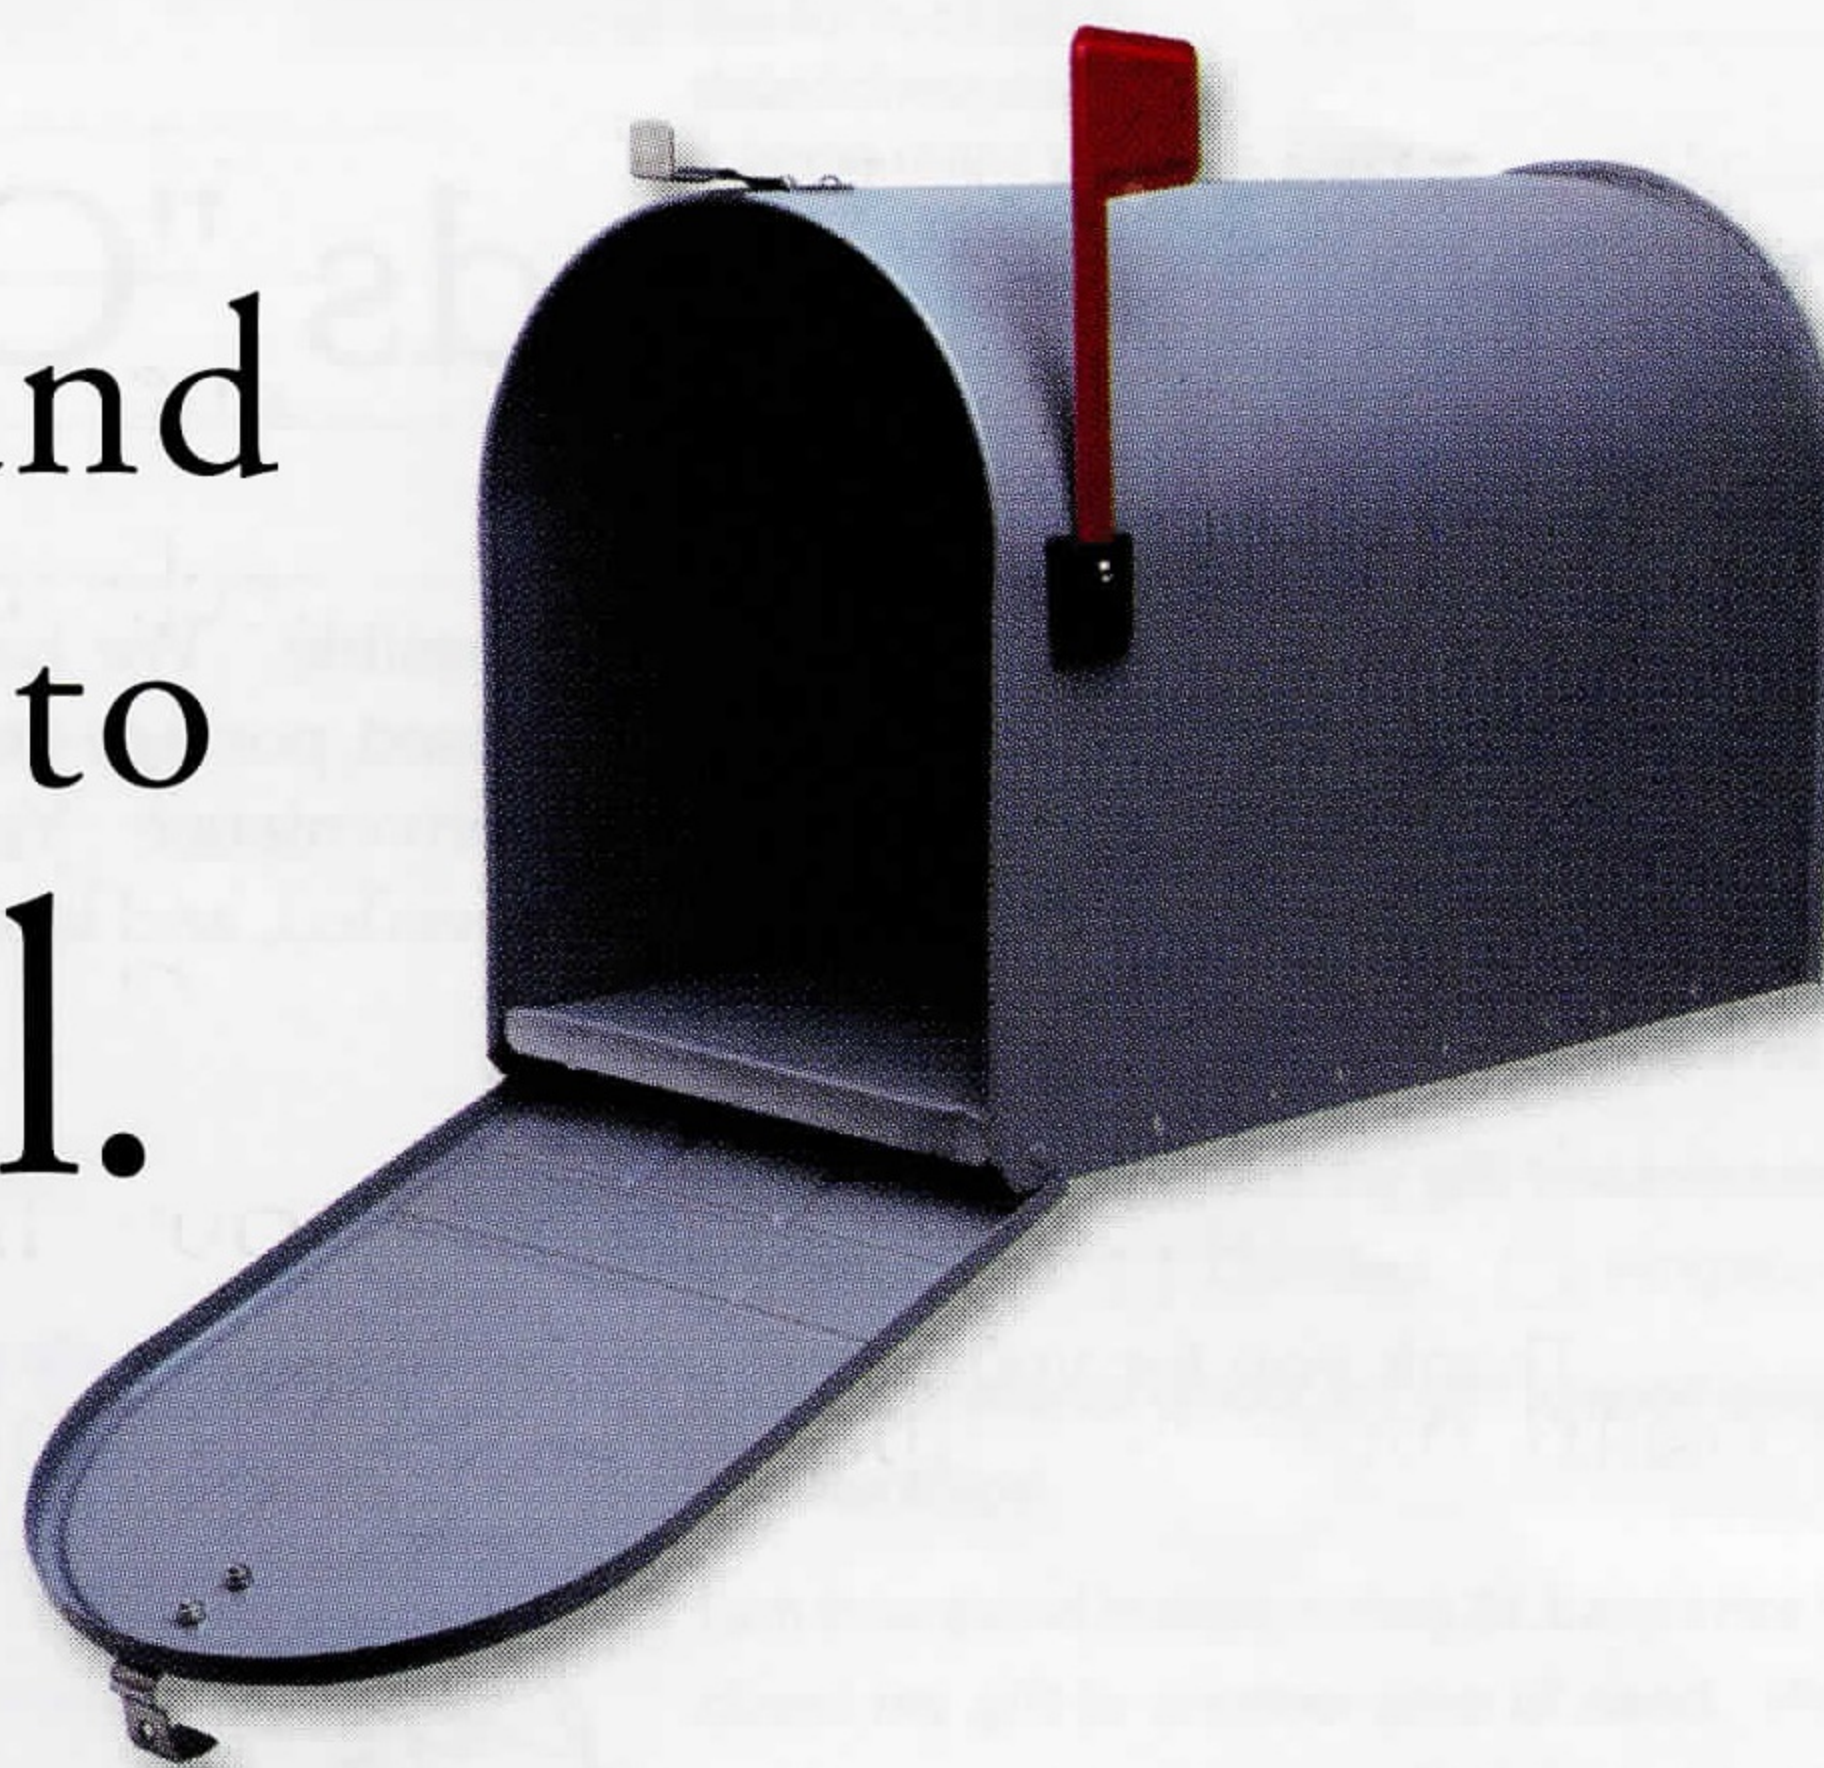

Cornwall thrives culturally with music, theatre and festivals, and it's a safe, friendly community with first rate facilities such as pools, parks, sports fields, ice rinks, libraries and schools.

If it's time for a career move, be smart about it and make your way to Cornwall. A great place to live, work and raise a family.

Interested? Visit our web site for more information on Cornwall and some of the opportunities that are waiting here for you.

...and move to Cornwall.

Social Service Worker (Gerontology) Articulation Agreement with Laurentian University

by Luetta Trenholme

The signing of the Social Service Worker - Gerontology articulation agreement with Laurentian University was held at the College on June 12th. President and CEO Volker Thomsen signed on behalf of the College and Brian Aitken, Chair of Ethics, Gerontology & Religious Studies signed on behalf of Laurentian.

The agreement provides the opportunity for graduates in the Social Service Worker - Gerontology Program to enter and complete their B.A. in Gerontology at Laurentian. They get seven full credits toward their B.A. (almost half of the degree requirement). The remaining credits are all available through distance education and can be taken on a full-or part-time basis. Students in the program will also be eligible to enrol in the B.A. program after successful completion of their first year.

On the other hand, this agreement offers Laurentian students in the Bachelor of Arts in Gerontology Program the option of completing the Social Service Worker - Gerontology Program at St. Lawrence in 10 months. As well as course work, there is extensive field-placement training - a very attractive feature to university students.

The signing ceremony was held during the "Mind, Body and Soul: Therapeutic Approaches to Enrich Dementia Care Workshop" which was jointly presented by the Activity Professionals of Ontario and St. Lawrence's Social Service Worker - Gerontology Program.

LASA Grad "Top Cop" in Cornwall

"Alumni of Distinction Award"

Brenda Lawson (Law & Security Administration - Cornwall, '92) was recognized as "Police Officer of the Year" by Le Club Optimiste de la region de Cornwall at a ceremony held in June.

Lawson received the honour in large part due to her commitment to youth in the community. She participates in the local "Adopt-A-Cop" program at four different schools, as well as the VIP Program (Values, Influences and Peers) aimed at reducing drug use and peer pressure. She is cited as being an outstanding role model for young people.

In a recent article by Rachele Labrecue in the Standard Freeholder, Pierre Campeau, Past President of the Club and Principal of Ecole Secondaire

L'Heritage, offered his strong support to Lawson's achievement. "As a police officer our streets are safer because of her," he is quoted as saying. "And in the school system our students are better informed because of her."

To recognize this outstanding achievement, the St. Lawrence College Alumni Association is pleased to present Constable Lawson with our own "Alumni of Distinction Award." Congratulations, Constable Lawson!

Brockville Nurses Celebrate 25th Reunion

by Marilyn Welch, Nursing - B, '76

The weather was perfect, food and beverage plentiful, and the company stimulating. A good time was had by all.

The 'Nursing Class of '76' reunited at The Isiah Tubbs Resort at the picturesque sandbanks near Picton on August 11th and 12th. Although 25 years had passed, it seemed like only yesterday that we had trudged onto the wards in our blue striped uniforms or wandered the halls of Comstock Residence in our housecoats.

Conversation was easy, as if we had only been apart for minutes instead of years. Classmates shared their life journeys with stories of humour, sadness, and joy. Twenty-two classmates, some from as far away as Texas, California, South Carolina, and Alberta reminisced about times forgotten and friendships lost, as well as hopes for the future. Each left the reunion with firm convictions to treasure those memories and boldly forge on in career and personal endeavours.

Many thanks are extended to the organizing committee. Great job! Finally, an invitation goes out to the 'Nursing Class of 1976' to gather again in the year 2006 with the hope that more will come. "If you do it, they will come!"

SLC Seeking Alumni Discount Providers

The College is in the midst of finalizing plans for the production and distribution of St. Lawrence Alumni cards. The personalized cards will be used for official identification purposes, including a proposed slate of alumni discounts.

The Alumni Office is currently entertaining discount offers from businesses and service providers, both locally the nationally, who are interested in tapping into the preferred purchasing power of nearly 30,000 St. Lawrence College graduates.

Businesses coming onboard will receive recognition in the initial mail-out package, as well as in Voyageur, and on the Alumni Page of the College's web site.

For more information, or to have your business added to the list of Alumni Discounts, please contact the Alumni Office (contact information listed on page 1) as soon as possible.

Alumni on the Web Tops 400

Over 400 alumni now have their email addresses posted on the Alumni page of the College's web site.

The "Alumni Web Directory" allows grads to instantly get in touch with former classmates and friends on line. The directory is segmented by campus, as well as by pre-and post-1990 graduates.

To have your email address added to this growing directory, simply update your Alumni Record and indicate your permission for us to post it on line. Updating your Alumni Record is as simple as completing the form inside the back cover of this magazine, or visiting the College's web site (www.sl.on.ca/alumni), entering the Student & Campus Services section, and then clicking on the Alumni icon. Scroll through all the alumni news, and then be sure to complete the Alumni Record Form in its entirety.

Brockville Hockey Reunion Game

Former Schooners and Brahma Bulls varsity hockey players, as well as more recent "College Cup" team participants, are invited to a special hockey reunion scheduled for Saturday, February 16, 2002.

The reunion will include a chance to "strap on the blades" in a friendly, non-contact inter-squad game, followed by a cash bar reception in the College's Student Lounge. Hockey memorabilia from the campus will also be on display.

Registration for the Brockville Hockey Reunion is only $25 per person. Please send a cheque made out to "St. Lawrence College Alumni - Hockey", along with a completed Alumni Record Form from inside the back cover of this magazine, to the College's Alumni Office (mailing address listed on page 1). The registration deadline is Friday, November 1.

Alumni Speakers Program

The Alumni Office is pleased to announce the launch of a new Alumni Speakers Program. The new project is an attempt to identify, utilize, and formally recognize graduates who return to volunteer as guest speakers in the College's classrooms.

As part of the College's revised Alumni Record Form, graduates are asked to identify their interest in returning to St. Lawrence as a guest speaker, as well as their specific topics of expertise. This information is then forwarded to the appropriate Regional Campus Director, who matches them up with specific faculty. When the qualifications of the alumni match the guest speaking needs of the instructor, the instructor follows up directly and a connection is made.

Through the support of the St. Lawrence College Foundation, a pool of funds has been made available to each Regional Campus Director to cover travel expenses. The Alumni Office will also supply a complimentary thank you gift for each alumni guest speaker, when requested by the instructor in advance.

"Our grads have a wealth of knowledge and experience to share," says Alumni & Development Officer Tyler Forkes, "and our students love to hear from them, because they can relate to them. It ends up being a positive experience for the students and the alumni alike. The Alumni Office also likes to know when our grads make this kind of contribution, and the Alumni Speakers Program allows us to track their involvement."

To volunteer as an academic guest speaker, please complete the Alumni Record Form inside the back cover, specifically the questions on guest speaking, and return it to the Alumni Office.

Provides an Opportunity for SLC Grads to "Take a Bite of the Big Apple"

by Helen Chadwick, Odyssey Learning Adventures

As part of St. Lawrence College's Alumni Travel Program, Odyssey Learning Adventures will visit the Big Apple, New York City, the largest city in North America, next spring. With over seven million people crammed into five boroughs and 20 million in the greater metropolitan area, some even call it the capital of the world.

Everything about New York City is world famous, from its subways to its skyscrapers, from its bars, restaurants and nightclubs to its universities, museums, theaters and libraries. Most of the American media empire is built here, New York's studios rivaled only by Hollywood for their size, number and influence.

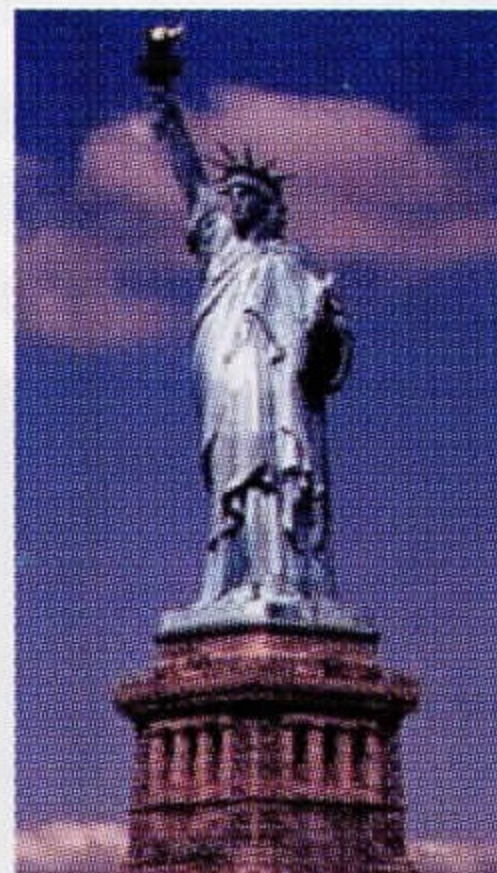

New York City is world-renowned as the home of America's favourite attractions such as: the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building, Times Square, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Madison Square Garden, Rockefeller Plaza, Central Park, and the Trump Tower.

Manhattan, one of the five boroughs which make up New York City, is one of the most exciting, diverse, energizing and glorious places in the whole world. No other city in the world has so many fascinating places packed into such a small area.

Come and see for yourself April 26 - 28, 2002. Experience an endless array of wonderful sights to discover over and over again. Explore New York, the city that never sleeps.

While visiting New York City, we will be staying at the Hotel Edison, located in the centre of Manhattan's historic city landmarks and popular attractions, right next to Times Square. The package includes transportation, two nights' accommodation, welcoming reception, baggage handling, 4-hour sight-seeing tour and all taxes.

BROCKVILLE

Brockville Branch President

A group of Brockville alumni set sail in the 1000 Islands.

The Brockville Branch, under the guidance of President Cathy TeKamp, has been busy building its governance base, raising its profile in the community, and planning social and community events for the next few months.

To date, the following hardy volunteers have stepped forward to serve as Directors for the Brock Branch Board of Directors: Kevin Frech, Mike Doiron, Lyn Tait, Mike Bulanda, Sue Nielsen, Keith Hare, Jim Miller, Tara Chenier and Robin Hoy. Others are being recruited daily, so feel free to volunteer!

The Alumni Branch has been busy fulfilling its 'community service' mandate by being present at local community economic development meetings, and a 'community partners' meeting (Thanks, Mike Bulanda for attending!).

To ensure that we have some fun while we build our branch, the Brockville Branch volunteered to sell tickets at Riverfest, our local summer festival. Thanks to Robin Hoy, George Howard, Mike Bulanda and Kevin Frech who expertly handled US exchange rates and long line-ups at the beer tent! (We all apologize to George for soaking him in rain water...hey, the tent slipped, okay?!)

The first ever 'Branch Brunch' Boat Cruise was held on August 26 aboard the "Sea Fox," with a lively crowd of alumni and friends enjoying the beautiful St. Lawrence River.

Local alumni also had a presence at the campus's Orientation Day on September 4, staffing the barbecue, and mixing with incoming students at a Pizza Pub at the end of the day. The next night the Branch, in conjunction with the SAC, brought back the 'Egghead Challenge' trivia game, under the direction of the Corporate Challenge 'guru,' Keith Hare.

Stay tuned for future events, such as the Oktoberfest barbecue, the Welcome Back Christmas Pub, and a Retro Reunion planned for March 2002. The Retro Reunion promises to be nostalgic and hilarious, featuring costumes, tunes and cars from the 70s, 80s and 90s. Start searching the attics for old clothes, vinyl records, and photos! Here's your chance to volunteer for the Reunion Planning Committee.....

For further information on any of our activities, or to offer suggestions and comments, please call Cathy TeKamp at (613) 345-0556, extension 3242.

CORNWALL

by Bob Laperle
Cornwall Branch President
Ph: (613) 933-1720 Ext. 246 (w)

At the Cornwall Branch Executive meeting in June, I moved from the Vice President's role into the position of President. Many thanks to Rick Shaver, who had been acting as the local alumni representative since 1986.

At that meeting, it was agreed that another Alumni Dinner was to be planned for March of 2002. We have formed committees that are working toward making this dinner as successful as the one in the past. I wish to thank all members who have volunteered to work toward this goal. If any alumni out there would like to give us a helping hand in organizing our dinner, please don't hesitate to contact me at 613-933-1720, ext. 246, or contact the College's Alumni Office.

We are also becoming a more visible and active campus. I hope to hear from many of you, and am looking forward to an exciting year on the Cornwall campus!

Compiled by John Hazelwood

Over 50,000 students have graduated from St. Lawrence over the years, but the College only has current contact information on just over half of them. Whenever you run into fellow grads, please ask them if they are receiving Voyageur. If they aren't, then please encourage them to update their files by contacting our office, or by doing so online at the alumni page of the College's web site: www.sl.on.ca/alumni.

The following is a sample of alumni whose contact information is not considered to be current. Can you help us to find any of these "lost sheep?"
