Voyageur@sl.on.ca

The new year is now firmly upon us, and I think its time that we got engaged. Seriously. I'm not speaking of "engaged to be married," of course, but rather engaged in the sense of becoming committed, dedicated, and actively involved in all that your alumni association has to offer, and in the life and work of the College itself.

As alumni, you have witnessed a resurgence in alumni activities over the last few years. The establishment of geographic Alumni Branches, an enhanced slate of programs and services, the introduction of exclusive affinity partnerships, and the relaunch of this magazine are all evidence that St. Lawrence is committed, on our part, to making this "lifelong relationship" work. We recognize the importance of this "marriage," and the value that it can have for both the College and for our graduates and friends.

Feedback from alumni has been very positive, and we have an outstanding core of committed volunteers at the Branch level working to gauge your interest, and plan events that are of value to you. We are progressing well, but we really need you to say "I do," and play a more active role in our activities. How can you do that? Well, I'll give you some suggestions.

First of all, as graduates, you can update your Alumni Record today, either by completing the form inside the back cover, or by visiting us on-line at www.sl.on.ca/alumni. Get a friend to do it too. While you're at it, you can check off the box indicating that you'd like to be on the Branch Mailing List, to ensure that you are kept abreast of upcoming events in your area. Thirdly, you can patronize our affinity partners, by applying for and using our new St. Lawrence MasterCard, getting an insurance quote from TD Meloche Monnex, and arranging for some friends to join together and go on Odyssey Learning Adventures' spring trip to New York City. These organizations are providing us with some outstanding opportunities, and we need to support them. And lastly, you can make a personal commitment to attend one of the special Branch events that are being planned in each of our campus communities this spring (see At the Branches, page 21). There is no doubt in my mind that you'll have a great time!

We've had a wonderful courtship, but now you need to "take the leap" with us. Let's make this year the best one yet for escalating our alumni activities. I hope to see you getting actively involved this year!!!

Letters to the Editor

"Wow! Congratulations on publishing a truly first class magazine. The change in layout and design is amazing, and has taken Voyageur to another level. I particularly enjoyed reading the alumni profile on Barnard Clark. It was great to read about his success, especially his work with The Tragically Hip. Imagine an SLC grad working with the Hip and receiving Juno Award recognition for his photos for the Phantom Power album cover. Now that's success.

Also, great job on the alumni web site. It is coming along nicely. It's great to have up to date information on your old classmates and other grads at your finger tips. Keep up the good work. I'll be visiting the site as I await the next edition of the new and improved St. Lawrence Voyageur."

Cormac Evans
(Advertising & Public Relations '00), Kingston

"I want to congratulate the Alumni and Development team on the new St. Lawrence Voyageur magazine. This is something that not only the alumni, but the entire school can be proud of. Its nice to see so many great changes in the school this year, with St. Lawrence Voyageur being a great start to new successes at St. Lawrence College."

Ryan O'Shaughnessy,
Executive Vice-President,

"Congratulations on a really professional magazine!!! Many thanks also for publishing the excellent article on our teams working on Mitel patents. And thanks again to Luetta [Trenholme] for all her hard work in pulling the article together."

Trevor Rainey,
Professor, Computer Engineering Technology

Editor's Note: The folks at Mitel enjoyed the article as well, and requested permission to post it on their corporate web page.

"I just received a copy of St. Lawrence Voyageur, and must say that your team has put together a tremendous publication. Your alumni have a publication they can truly be proud of!"

Jamie King, Manager,
Alumni Development and Student Awards,
Niagara College

"Just in case you haven't heard enough yet, the new format, style and glossy pages of the St. Lawrence College Voyageur look great. Compliments on the outcome of all your hard work."

Jeanna Andre

Advertising & Public Relations (K) '01

"I got a job in my field within five months of graduation, and I know it was because of my St. Lawrence education." This quote from Jeanna Andre from her on-line Alumni Record Update (www.sl.on.ca/alumni), caught our attention in the Alumni Office just as we were in the midst of choosing our latest Alumni Profile candidates. After some initial conversations with Jeanna, we knew that hers was one of those great success stories that we just had to share.

"In March of 2001, I was in Ottawa for the weekend visiting friends, and as I walked around the city I thought I would really love to live here and start a life for myself," recalls Andre. "The next day I cold-called the NewRO."

The NewRO is the only independent television station in the Nation's Capital. In the fall of 2000, it opened its doors to a brand new state of the art broadcasting facility located in the heart of Ottawa's Byward Market. The unique multimedia complex is called CHUM Market Media Mall, and is specially designed to house both television and radio broadcast facilities.

Eventually, Andre received an interview with News Director Richard Grey, who was impressed with Andre's field placement experience with Bravo!, as well as her success at the College's Greg Awards. She was offered a job as Floor Director for "NewsSixOttawa," and began right after Labour Day.

"As Floor Director, my main responsibility is that I am the 'eyes and ears' of the control booth," Andre explains. "I take my cues from the Director, Technical Director, and Audio Director. During the news I am in charge of the studio environment, meaning that I cue the anchors to positions, indicate when they are on camera or off, and if they have a voice-over, etc. I make sure the camera operators are in their proper places when they need to be, and keep an eye out for any lighting or audio problems. In general, my job is to ensure that the overall look of the show is up to our expectations."

Andre, who attended high school at Regiopolis Notre-Dame in Kingston, was initially enrolled in Fashion Management at George Brown College in Toronto. While back in Kingston at Christmas, Andrea found out about St. Lawrence's Advertising and Public Relations program while flipping through one of our Career Guides. "I knew it was something I wanted to pursue," she says. "I took an English class that spring, and enrolled in the APR program in the fall."

In her first year, Andrea was the Co-Vice-President of the Greg Awards Planning Committee, an event which recognizes outstanding student work in video production. "I worked really hard to make it a formal event and to make sure that we had a great venue to do it in. In second year, our group did the video for The Canadian College of Naturopathic Medicine. We were editing for nearly three months, and I think we managed to make a really great video." The judges seemed to agree, awarding Andrea's group with an impressive seven out of ten Gregs. "It was one of the best nights ever. To know all your hard work paid off is just so rewarding."

Andre has some particularly fond memories, surrounding her Greg Awards experience, of a particular professor who went above and beyond the call of duty to support his students. "Tom Harpell was great! He would stay until the wee hours of the morning to edit the videos, and his no-nonsense way of teaching was very refreshing. One day in particular stands out for me. I had an interview for a commercial production job and had to make, edit and present two mock commercials. Not only did he come with me to shoot the pieces, but he did so after driving all night from Thunder Bay in a snowstorm. He came in at six a.m. to help me edit the piece for my interview that afternoon. There aren't too many people who give of their time the way he does."

Alex Glashan (nee Wentzel)

Hotel / Restaurant Management (B) '96

Alex Glashan is a shining example of someone who is successful in her field. Her career in Hotel / Restaurant Management has provided her with numerous opportunities for travel and a wide variety of employment experiences. These experiences, coupled with her St. Lawrence diploma, have allowed her to rise through the industry ranks to her current position as Assistant Banquet Manager at the Westin Bayshore Resort & Marina in Vancouver.

In her current position, Glashan is responsible for overseeing the daily operations of a 51,000 sq. ft. conference facility (including the largest ballroom in western Canada), as well as outside catering contracts to many venues in the Vancouver area. Glashan oversees the work, training and scheduling of five supervisors and over 150 line employees. She also hires and trains all new banquet servers, bartenders and housemen.

"The most rewarding aspect of my job is watching sales contracts unfold into wonderful and successful events," Glashan explains, "making occasions like someone's wedding, the most important day of their life, into an event to remember. I also enjoy helping to make a conference a success, after many months of planning and hard work."

Overseeing such a large staff isn't always easy, but it's a task that Glashan is certainly prepared for. "Managing a staff of 150 can be challenging, and it is sometimes difficult to mesh so many personalities into a well-oiled team. But it's also very rewarding to see people that I have coached and trained go on to successes of their own."

While studying at the College's Brockville campus, Glashan did her co-op placement with Canadian Pacific Hotels (now Fairmont Hotels and Resorts) at Jasper Park Lodge in Alberta. She made a favourable impression during that period, and was hired immediately following graduation. Just one month later she was promoted to Captain, and then shortly thereafter, to Assistant Dining Room Manager. She also went on to hold the positions of Assistant Room Service Manager, and Beverage Manager, learning all aspects of the field.

"I left Jasper Park Lodge in November of '97 to become Assistant Restaurant Manager in Griffin's Restaurant in CP's (now Fairmont's) Hotel Vancouver. In '98 I became the Assistant Banquet Manager, working in that area until 2000, when I decided that I might like to learn more about the "rooms" aspect of the hotel industry. I switched over and took on the role of Assistant Front Office Manager, a position I held until I was approached by the Westin Bayshore."

The hotel had recently undergone a series of renovations, and had added a large Conference Centre. They needed someone with experience to help them grow into a large scale operation, and Glashan fit the bill perfectly. It was then that she moved into her current role as Assistant Banquet Manager.

Glashan has nothing but good things to say about her time at St. Lawrence. "When I was choosing a school, I visited many institutions throughout southern Ontario," she says. "The Coordinator of the Hotel / Restaurant Management program, Doug Roughton, made time to meet and sit down with me, and give me a tour of the facility, Motluks. I felt instantly comfortable and knew that this environment would help me to succeed. I attribute a lot of my success to the motivation and support I received from the program at St. Lawrence, and especially Mr. Roughton."

"I still keep in touch with my former classmates, and we make time each year to travel across the country to see each other. My best friends in the world are the ones I made while at St. Lawrence College."

Peggy Houlden (nee O'Neill)

Retail Management (C) '77

Business Administration - Computing & Information Processing (C) '79

Business Administration - Finance (C) '82

Peggy Houlden belongs to a true St. Lawrence family. She and her sisters (Kathy, a Fashion Design grad from '79, and Kelly, who studied Graphic Design ('89)), hold a total of five St. Lawrence College diplomas!

Houlden, leading the family with three diplomas of her own, is the Director of Supply Chain and Product Group Systems in the Canadian Development and SAP Competency Department within Alcatel Canada's America's Region Information Systems unit. That's a long way from her first introduction to computers back in 1977, as part of her Retail Management program. "I instantly fell in love with computers," says Houlden, "and changed my career plans away from retail, and toward a computer science / business administration path."

"The excellent courses that I took in the Business Administration curriculum prepared me for both a future in computer systems analysis and business process support," she explained. "Getting a solid understanding of computers and programming landed me my first job and enabled the start of a long and rewarding career working with computer systems. Having a good knowledge of how the business worked helped me greatly. Specifically, knowing the entire chain of the manufacturing process, and how financial transactions intertwined to make a company operate was instrumental in my success. All of my career has been spent applying business process knowledge to computer application systems."

While at St. Lawrence, Houlden (nee O'Neill) played varsity basketball, as well as hockey, a sport that she has continued on with to this day. "I've played at all levels of skill, from Senior A down to the current recreational level," says Houlden. "One year our team even won the Senior C Provincial Championships."

Houlden began her career path as a Junior Programmer for Digital Equipment in Kanata in 1979. Over the next eight years she rose to the top programming position of Principal Programmer / Analyst. She then switched her focus to business analysis within the Manufacturing and Materials Division, eventually moving up the corporate ladder until she became the Manager of Business Systems Support Team, with responsibility for all applications systems used in the Kanata manufacturing and distribution facility.

After a few more career moves including a stint as consultant, as well as work assignments in Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa, Houlden chose to settle into Silicon Valley North. "After finding the traveling too hard on my home life, I returned to another large hi-tech firm, Alcatel, located in Kanata (now Ottawa) where I could pursue my love of working with ERP systems in the supply chain area."

As a world leader in the high speed access and optical transport market, Alcatel is a major player in the area of telecommunications and the Internet. A strong local presence in 130 countries, Alcatel has over 110,000 employees worldwide. In 2000, its sales were EURO 31 billion, 85 % of which were from telecommunications. It is a world leader in ADSL equipment, terrestrial and submarine optical networks, public switching, fixed wireless access, and intelligent networks, with its headquarters in Paris, France. Alcatel Canada began its operations in 1986. It currently has 12 offices across the country, with its headquarters based in Ottawa.

Houlden is responsible for providing support for the supply chain components of the company's ERP application system called SAP. She also provides support for the applications that support the product business units for component engineering and product

Ontario Power Generation and St. Lawrence College Erect Wind Turbine in Cornwall

On September 19, Ontario Power Generation (OPG) and St. Lawrence College officially opened a new 30 metre tall, 40 kilowatt wind turbine on the College's Cornwall campus.

"This installation is part of OPG's corporate commitment to utilizing and showcasing the viability of clean, renewable energy," said OPG's Murray Paterson. "Recently, we unveiled the largest wind turbine in North America, located in Pickering, and are involved as partners in Huron wind, Ontario's first commercial wind farm near Kincardine. We are building a variety of other commercial-scale and demonstration-scale renewable energy projects."

"It is fitting that this Windmill Point site will once again be home to a windmill," said Pat Finucan, the College's Cornwall Campus Director. "The College is thrilled to be the operator of this wind turbine, and we look forward to integrating its operation into our curriculum."

Photos: Frank Lockington

The College, according to local historians, is built on land where a working windmill once stood.

"The old windmill on this site once provided energy in harmony with its environment. The modern wind turbine donated by OPG brings that harmonious partnership with nature back to Cornwall's riverfront," continued Finucan. "We're proud to be rekindling old memories while manifesting a commitment to clean energy."

Joining OPG and St. Lawrence College in the project is the St. Lawrence River Institute of Environmental Sciences, an organization dedicated to research on large river ecosystems. All three organizations plan to monitor the effectiveness of the turbine as well as explore the educational opportunities of the emission-free source of electricity. "The project reflects our mutual commitment to the environment," said Finucan.

Last winter OPG announced the creation of OPG - Evergreen Energy, part of a five-year plan to quadruple the company's portfolio of clean, renewable "green power." Ontario Power Generation is an Ontario-based company, whose principal business is the generation and sale of electricity to commercial customers in Ontario and to interconnected markets.

Honorary Diploma Presented to Olympic Triathlete Sharon Donnelly

by Frank Lockington

Each year, the Board of Governors of St. Lawrence College recognizes the outstanding achievements of individuals or groups whose accomplishments are of such excellence, inspiration and leadership that they serve as examples for the students of our College.

Traditionally, the presentation of an honorary diploma coincides with spring convocation. However, Olympic Triathlete Sharon Donnelly was literally "on the run" at convocation time last spring, and so we were pleased to be able to "catch up with her" at Kingston's Student Awards Night on November 1.

Donnelly, through her international athletic achievements, has been a tremendous ambassador for the city of Kingston. A native of Toronto, she was the first Canadian triathlete to meet the 2000 Canadian Olympic Association triathlon criteria. Her greatest triathlon success to date occurred in 1999 at the Pan American Games in Winnipeg, where she won the gold medal. She has been a member of the National Triathlon Team since 1996.

Donnelly is a retired Captain in the Canadian Army, having graduated with a BA in Commerce from Royal Military College.

However, it is Donnelly's involvement in a wide range of volunteer initiatives, which serves to distinguish

her as a true community leader. Following Donnelly through "a day in her life" helps to illustrate the commitment she has for her sport, athletics and youth. It is not uncommon to see her speaking at community fundraising events or with the media. Frequent visits to area elementary schools are extremely important to her. There, Donnelly shares her experiences and attentively listens to the kids tell their stories. This past summer, she played a leading role in Kingston's "Kids of Steel" Triathlon, an event which we are sure will launch the careers of many aspiring young triathletes. Sharon Donnelly is an exemplary role model for our students, and a very worthy recipient of the College's highest honour.

Employers Encouraged to Post Job Opportunities on College Web Site

by Kila McCann

Greetings all! The time is fast approaching when our graduates will be looking to utilize the training they have received at St. Lawrence College. As part of our continuous commitment to our students and support of our communities, we provide a free web site where employers may post job opportunities. New and old Alumni may log on to the website using a password obtained from our Recruitment and Employment Assistance Department. It is a service we promote every year to the entire graduating body and to date we have had over 310,000. If hiring skilled people to work in your business or company is your goal, then we encourage you to post your employment opportunities on our website, free of charge, at www.sl.on.ca/services or simply e-mail the job description to laison@sl.on.ca. For more information, please contact the Employment Assistance and Recruitment Office at the St. Lawrence College campus nearest you.

Biotechnology Firm, Cortec, Opens on Kingston Campus

by Jan Fox

Sherri Kemp

Angie Tuttle

Sherri Kemp and Angie Tuttle are graduates of the College's Biotechnology program, and are working for Cortec DNA Service Laboratories Inc.

Sherri graduated in 1999 and is now the Laboratory Manager at Cortec. She oversees the day-to-day operations of the lab, and has also been trained in the art of automated DNA synthesis. As a graduate of the program, Sherri says "The Biotechnology program provides you with all the required skills to be successful in the workplace. It offers hands on learning that will make you a valuable asset to any employer."

After completing her work experience at Cortec, Angie was hired as a DNA sequencing specialist. She continues to fine-tune her skills, determining the DNA sequences of unknown DNA samples submitted to Cortec by its clients. Angie says that "graduating from the biotechnology program gave me a sense of accomplishment, as well as a solid foundation for my career."

Because it outgrew the lab space at Queen's University, the President of Cortec, Kevin McDermott, searched for a new location to operate his company. Fortunately for our program, Cortec has taken up residence on the Kingston SLC campus.

Cortec is a DNA service company that makes custom DNA and provides automated DNA sequencing services. Cortec has an international clientele that represents a broad spectrum of biotechnology users. They range from purely academic research labs, the Research Institute or the Human DNA Diagnostic Lab, to pharmaceutical companies or large biotech companies.

Cortec offers a variety of benefits to the College's Biotechnology program including work experience opportunities, tours of their facility for potential and students, and for our 1st, 2nd, and 3rd year students they offer a first hand look at a real biotech facility.

Andrea's career is on the rise at The NewRO, where she was recently trained to become a Production Assistant, where she will be responsible for timing the entire show, and ensuring that every second of the show, including commercial breaks, fits exactly into the allotted 60 minutes.

"St. Lawrence helped me in so many ways," she states proudly.

"I think one of the main things was the approach the teachers took to our work. They came to our level, and we felt like co-workers. They all made an effort to be as fair as possible, but also tried to make sure that we were prepared for the real world. The hands-on aspects were particularly helpful. It has given me so much knowledge and self-assurance, that I am very thankful that I studied Advertising & Public Relations at St. Lawrence College."

St. Lawrence Job Connect Office to Open in Ottawa

by Barry Keefe

Director, Recruitment, Liaison & Job Training Services

The Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities, through the Workplace Preparation Branch, has asked St. Lawrence to manage the Job Development and Placement Service of the provincial Job Connect programme in the Ottawa-Carleton region.

To quote from the Ministry:

"...in keeping with the MTCU's commitment to sustained performance, we have decided to contract with St. Lawrence College for the delivery of English JDPS in Ottawa-Carleton. This college has demonstrated its ability to meet all Schedule B commitments for two consecutive years. St. Lawrence College also operates in a shared Job Connect Delivery model in two communities: Brockville and Kingston."

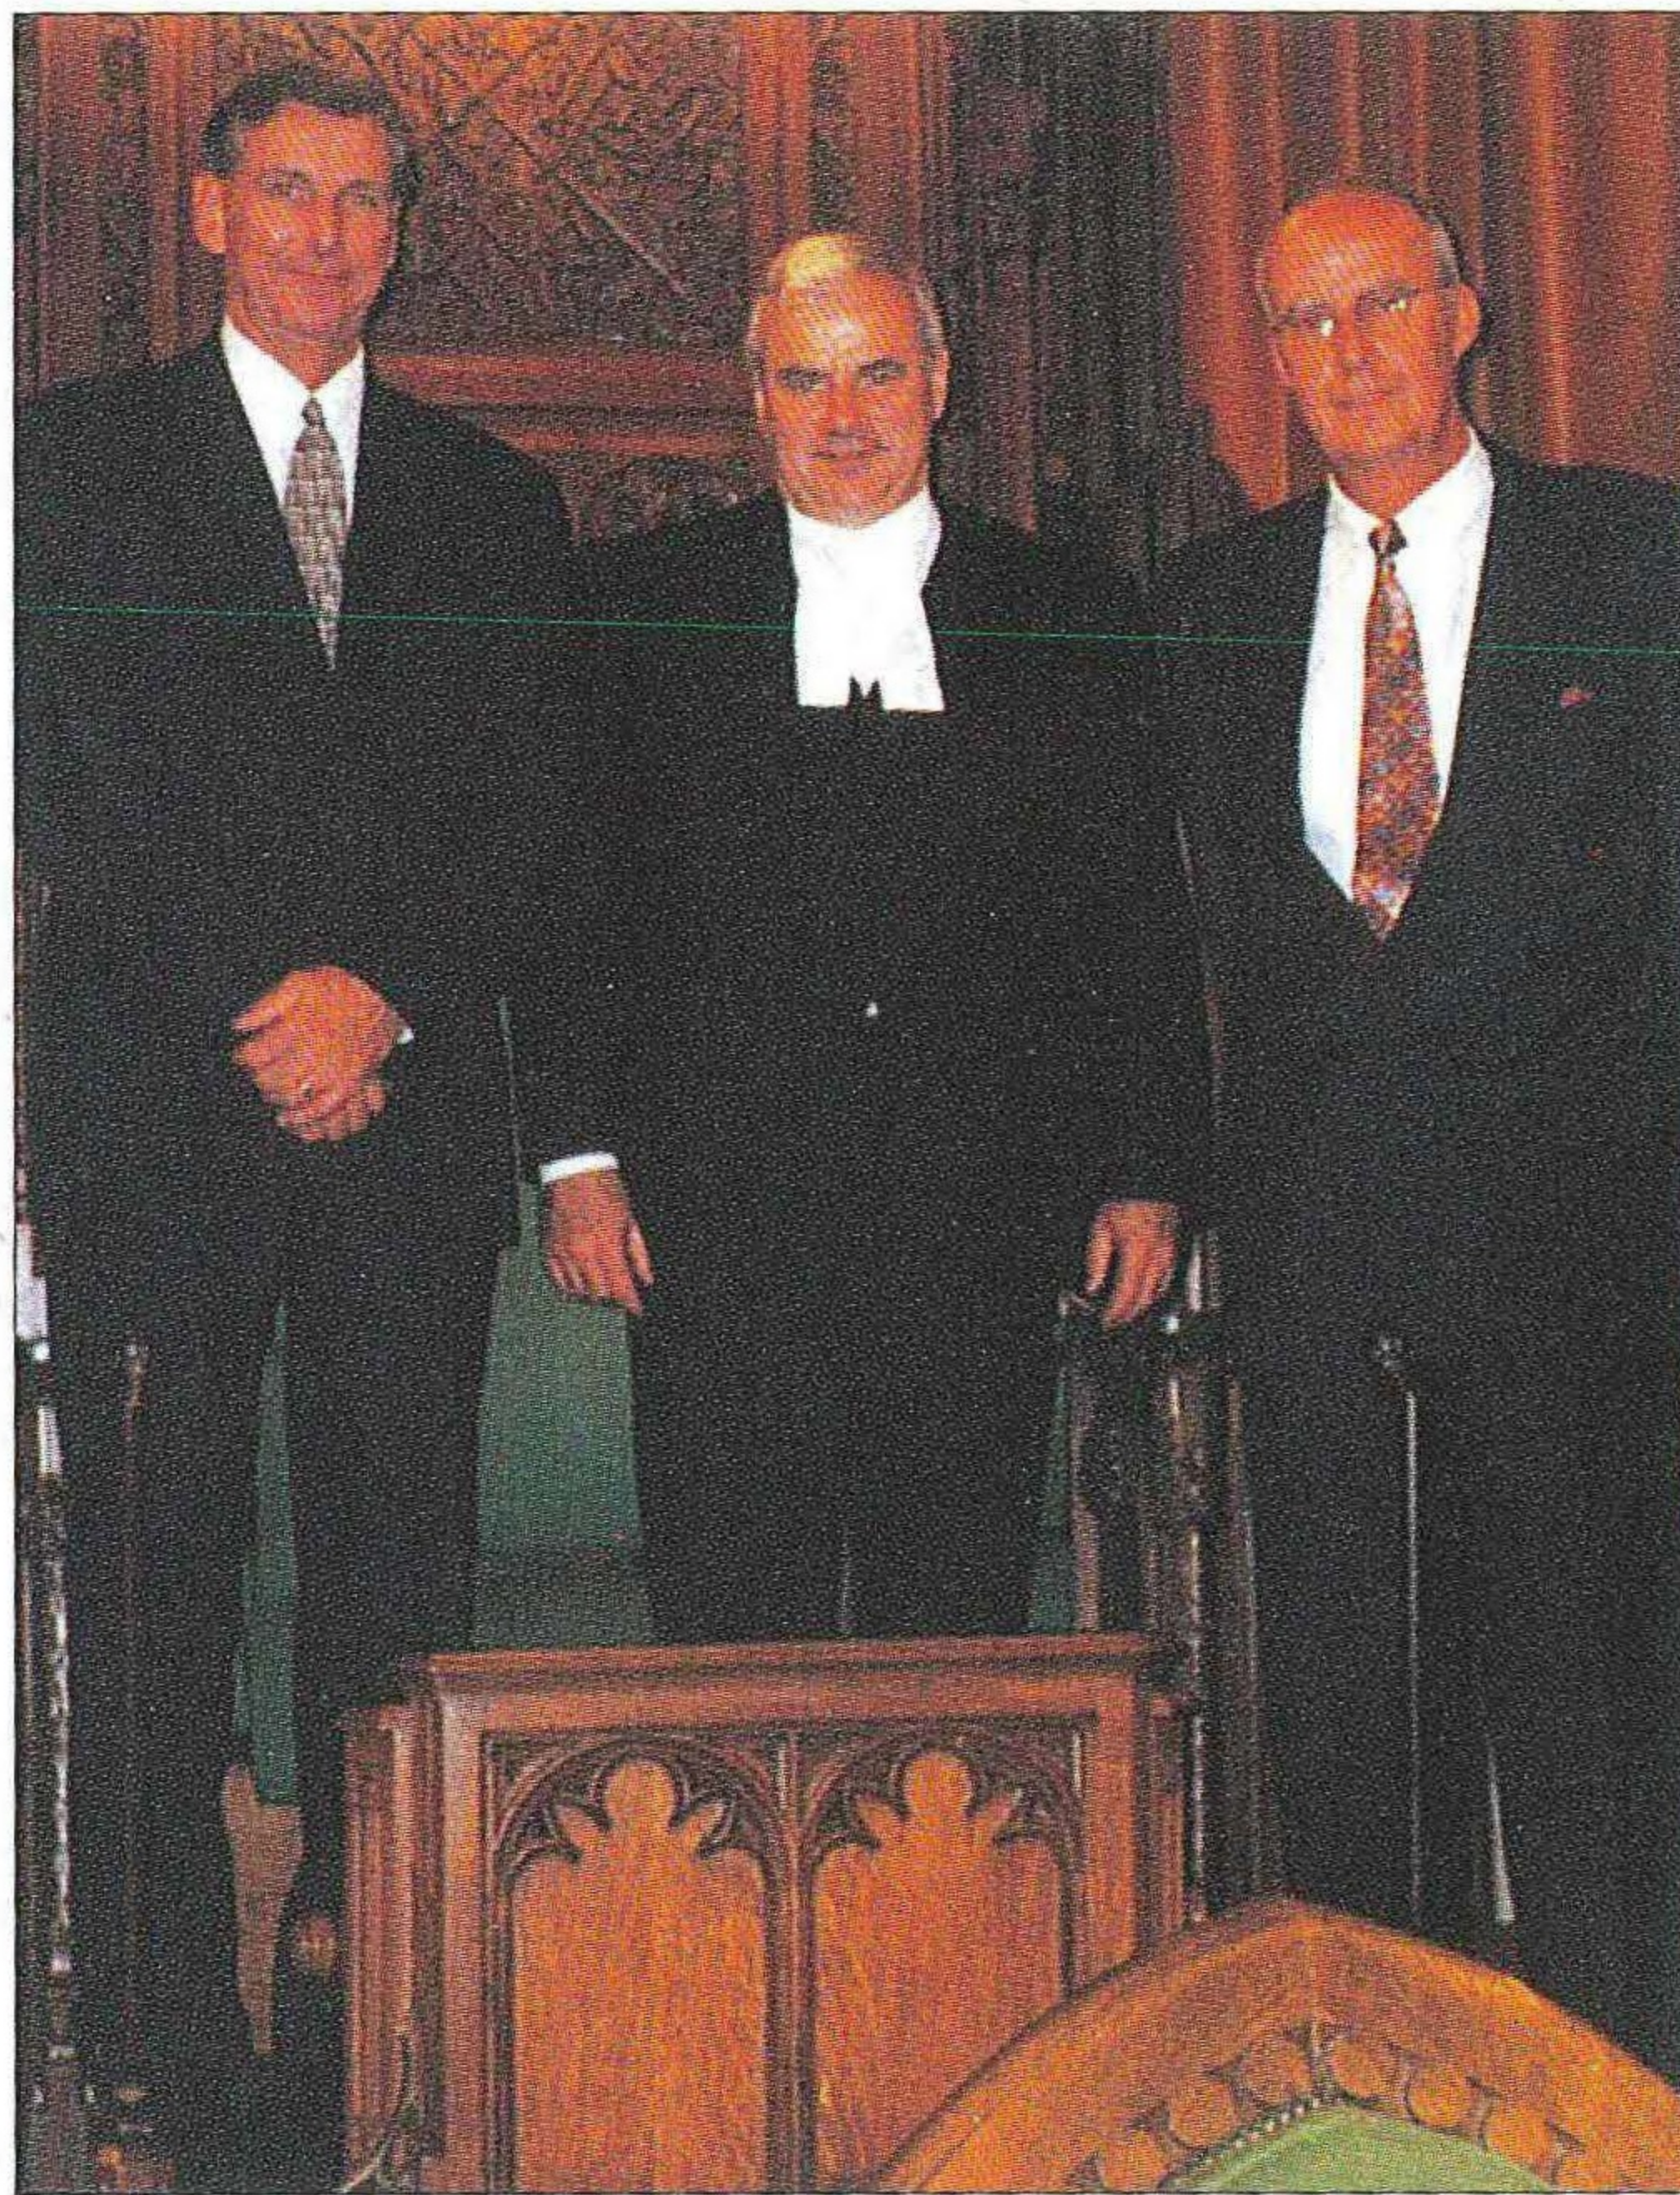

The College is pleased to be able to enter into a new partnership with the Youth Services Division of the John Howard Society and with the Youth Services Bureau of Ottawa. Plans are currently underway to find office space in the downtown area and we hope to be able to announce our new address soon. Our initial meetings with our new partners have been very encouraging. We hope to continue to build on the good work undertaken by the staff at Algonquin as we pursue the goal of helping young people to find work in the Ottawa-Carleton area.

This initiative would not have been possible without the working relationship we have experienced with our community partners: the Employment and Education Centre in Brockville and Kingston's Employment and Youth Services. We owe a debt of thanks to Sherri Simzer of EEC and Michael Harris of KEYS and their colleagues for helping us accomplish our goals.

This venture would not have been possible without the hard work and commitment of an outstanding group of people in Job Training Services:

Janet Ashford, Pat Campbell, Ray Dixon, Rosemarie Gavin, Alan Hoy, Susan Nielsen, Robin Penrose, Glenna Schaille and Alison Wilson with help from Karl Gough, Angela Skeete and Lynn Sykes - star performers all.

SUNY Potsdam President Dr. John A. Fallon III, Speaker of the House Peter Milliken, and SLC President Volker Thomsen "take over parliament."

St. Lawrence College Take Over of Parliament Hill!

by Volker Thomsen

The Honorable Peter Milliken, Speaker of the House of Commons, Honours Historic Agreement Between SUNY Potsdam and St. Lawrence College

did you think that
St. Lawrence College had taken over Parliament?*

That was the way it felt for the 21 guests who joined Peter Milliken for dinner in the Speaker's Dining Room at the House of Commons. He was such an extraordinarily and welcoming host that everyone felt at home at Parliament and ready for a "take over."

On September 26, representatives from St. Lawrence College and the State University of New York (SUNY) at Potsdam, along with the Honorable Joe Jordan (MP for Leeds and Grenville), were invited to celebrate the historic partnership between the institutions.

After dinner, guests were invited to tour the floor of the House of Commons which was an awe inspiring experience. In addition to having a wonderful time, everyone agreed that it was both an honour and a privilege to have been invited to attend.

Peter Milliken, who is very supportive of this kind of partnership, noted the importance of eastern Ontario and northern New York working together. We are neighbours, and working together promotes economic development and provides a boost to the economy in both areas. The partnership agreement also gives graduates additional educational opportunities.

St. Lawrence College is also proud of alumnus Joe Jordan (Business Administration - Marketing (B) '83). His resume reads like a 'dream come true,' and he is a wonderful example of a College graduate who has succeeded at the highest level.

New College Charter Legislation is "Historic"

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 4, 2001 - Legislation introduced at Queen's Park today to establish a new charter for Ontario's 25 colleges of applied arts and technology will allow the colleges to be more flexible, entrepreneurial, responsive and market-driven.

The charter legislation, which will provide a new framework for college governance, was introduced this afternoon by Dianne Cunningham, Minister of Training, Colleges and Universities (MTCU).

"This is a truly historic occasion for Ontario's colleges," says Susan Bloomfield, chair of the Association of Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology of Ontario (ACAATO). "A new charter will give the system greater flexibility to meet the needs of our students, our communities, the job market and the provincial economy in the context of the global marketplace. Further more, it recognizes the key role that Ontario's colleges play in Ontario's economic and social development."

The new charter legislation is the result of more than two years of broad-based consultation involving a variety of provincial stakeholders, including the business sector, government leaders, students, the internal college community and MTCU representatives.

Once enacted, the charter will allow colleges to continue to respond to community needs while evolving in ways not imagined when the system was established nearly 35 years ago, says Tim McTiernan, chair of ACAATO's Committee of Presidents.

"This is not a cookie cutter approach," McTiernan says. "We consulted widely with college stakeholders to ensure that this charter would address as many issues as possible within the context of a diverse system of colleges. We reached a consensus on many issues, but also found that in other areas, our diverse nature meant that a one-size-fits-all solution does not exist. Therefore, a cornerstone of the new charter will be the allowance for this diversity."

SUNY Potsdam Open House Held on Brockville Campus

by David White, Manager of Marketing

The State University of New York (SUNY) opened its first satellite office in Canada at the Brockville campus on September 27.

In April, 2001, St. Lawrence and SUNY Potsdam signed an historic joint admissions agreement to facilitate the transfer process for students from two-year programs at St. Lawrence to four-year programs at SUNY. The agreement allows St. Lawrence students to seamlessly transfer to SUNY Potsdam. Once students have earned a diploma at St. Lawrence, they may transfer into the junior class at SUNY Potsdam in order to complete bachelor's degrees.

Volker Thomsen, President and CEO of St. Lawrence College, and Dr. John A. Fallon III, President of SUNY Potsdam, participated in a ribbon-cutting ceremony, which was witnessed by many College students and staff, as well as local and federal officials.

The St. Lawrence Vikings (Kingston) Touch Football Team brought home gold medals from the Ontario Colleges Athletic Association (OCAA) Championships held at Niagara College in Welland this past October.

The Vikings won three of four round-robin games, before shutting out the host team from Niagara 46-0 in the semi-finals. In the championship game, with windy conditions playing havoc with both quarterbacks, St. Lawrence beat Mohawk College from Hamilton by a score of 35-27.

After 11 years of being among the best but never managing to bring home the gold, coach James Wallace was thrilled with the victory.

Tournament MVPs included Steve Douglas, Simon Labbett, Steve Richer, Joe Montgomery and Anthony Corda.

St. Lawrence Cross-Country Runners Excel at OCAA Championships

The 2001 OCAA Cross-Country Championships were hosted by Fleming College in Peterborough in October, and St. Lawrence runners fared extremely well.

The Kingston campus Vikings brought home the most "hardware," winning the silver medal in the Women's Team competition, the bronze in the Men's Team competition, and yet another bronze in the overall Combined Team standings. Christine Molnar, who placed 7th in the Women's 5 km race, was named to the Provincial All-Star team.

Cornwall Sharks runner Marnie Sheppard finished in second place overall. She picked up an individual silver medal, and was also named to the Provincial All-Star team.

Andrew English, of Brockville's Schooners team, placed 7th overall in the Men's 8 km race, and qualified as St. Lawrence's third OCAA Provincial All-Star.

Congratulations to all of our athletes, coaches, and Athletic Directors!

Kingston Expansion Project Breaks Ground

A large crowd of students, staff, and supporters were on hand in the Limestone City on November 1 for a ceremonial groundbreaking event for the Kingston Campus Expansion Project.

Following words of welcome by Campus Director Chris Whitaker, President Volker Thomsen and St. Lawrence College Foundation Chair, Jim Brown, 35 special guests were invited to accept an "Expanding Opportunities" ceremonial shovel and take part in the sod turning. The number of participants was significant in that they represented the 35 years that St. Lawrence College has been in operation.

The event, which received outstanding media coverage, was part of a larger day of celebration on the Kingston Campus, which included an Open House for prospective students, a Staff Recognition ceremony, and the annual Student Awards Night.

2001 - 2002 Annual Appeal Update

The St. Lawrence College Foundation is receiving record support from our graduates in the Alumni phase of this year's Annual Appeal. As we went to press in early December, graduates like you have already helped us to top last year's total. This is a significant show of support for the College, but we can't let up now. Our needs are great and urgent. By lending your support now, you can join the Alumni Support Team, and make a real difference in the lives of our students today.

Just as a reminder, the goal of the 2001 - 2002 Annual Appeal is to raise funds for Campus Priorities. Kingston and Brockville have chosen to improve classroom technology with such items as PowerPoint projectors, digital cameras for Internet work, DVD players, CD burners, and scanners. The Cornwall campus is focusing on enhancing student life, by supporting sports teams, as well as theater arts, cultural programs and music.

Please support St. Lawrence by completing the attached 2001-02 Annual Appeal Pledge form, and sending it today, along with your payment, to: The St. Lawrence College Foundation, King & Portsmouth, Kingston, ON, K7L 5A6.

Thank you so much for your support of St. Lawrence College!

Our Students are Our Successes!

by Joan Sponagle

Our students were winners! At three separate Fall Recognition Banquets approximately 130 students from our three campuses received a total of $67,425 through our Awards Program. These awards are sponsored by businesses, alumni, organizations and individuals.

The format of the evening put the emphasis on giving the attendees a history of the awards and/or a biography of the recipients. We learned that our students are role models, ambassadors, academic scholars, peer tutors, volunteers, parents, and athletes - the diversity is astounding.

Cornwall Nursing Class Celebrates 25th Reunion

by Diana Kemp, Nursing (C) '76

The evening of September 22nd held many fond memories for the graduating class of 1976. Our 25th Reunion began with a wine and cheese reception, which was attended by many former nursing instructors. We had an opportunity to look at picture albums and memorabilia from the years gone by. The large poster size print of our graduating class was a great hit as it was the focus of many fun and interesting conversations. We were also able to take home a computer-reproduced print of our graduating class as a souvenir.

Later that evening, over a delicious meal prepared by Jazz Magnolia's, the graduates continued to reminisce. Each person was asked to "tell their story" of what they had been up to over the past 25 years. Classmates came not only from Cornwall and surrounding area but from the United States and Western Canada as well. After a fun filled evening of hugs, tears, laughter and reminiscing everyone departed with yet another special memory to forever hold in their hearts. We all look forward to our 30 year reunion!

George Howard, Lyn Tait and Phil Piasetzki at work at Prescott Paper Products in Kingston.

Lyn Tait was hired as an Administrative Assistant soon after graduation in '99. Since then she has moved up to the position of Office Manager.

Tait is a graduate of the Business Administration-Accounting program in Brockville. She participated in the student government as Vice-President of the Student Administrative Council (SAC) in her final year, a position which involved managing the student pub as well as acting as Editor-in-Chief of the campus newspaper, The Ships Log.

Lyn continues to be involved with the College through her participation on the College's Board of Governors, a position she had held for nearly four years.

George Howard came on board last spring. After graduating, also from Business Administration in Brockville in 1998, Howard spent two and a half years at Black & Decker working as Assistant Credit Manager for Canada. He joined the Prescott team as both Controller and Operations Manager. In his final year at St. Lawrence, Howard worked closely with Lyn Tait as the President of the SAC.

Phil Piasetzki is the most recent grad to join the team. An Accounting specialist from the Kingston campus, Piasetzki is an Administrative Assistant working in accounts payable and payroll administration.

All three employees graduated with distinction and were the recipients of several awards. Both Howard and Piasetzki were CGA award recipients.

Company President George Colgan is pleased with his SLC alumni on staff. "These grads have all come to us with the skills and training needed to do the jobs," he says. "In a small company like ours, you have to be flexible and able to grow. We haven't been disappointed with a St. Lawrence College grad yet."

Veterinary Technology Gets New Facility

by Nancy Watson

It all started in the winter of 1999. The School of Health Sciences, Kingston, received the official news. We had been awarded a $1.2 million dollar provincial Superbuild grant to renovate our animal facilities and lab areas. The veterinary technology/assistant faculty and staff started planning. We worked as a team to design the best facility that this money would buy. These were exciting times!

We worked closely with the architectural firm of Shoalts and Zaback, the electrical mechanical firm of Smith and Andersen, the Doornekamp Construction Company, Blayne Mackey (SLC project manager), John MacGregor (SLC physical resources), and numerous subcontractors.

In April 2001, plans were in place. Melancholy feelings surfaced when we videotaped the ~old~ facility for posterity~s sake. Our meagre equipment and supplies were boxed up and put in storage. Destruction began early in May and, believe it or not, we moved into our new facility in late August! Deadlines can so be met! In celebration a grand opening was held on Oct. 30, 2001 complete with a ribbon-cutting ceremony. The new facility is very functional, comfortable and beautiful. (Tours are available.) Most importantly the students have a state-of-the-art facility and equipment....and the animals have a comfortable living environment. Our passion for life-long learning has a new spark.

At the Branches

BROCKVILLE

by Cathy TeKamp
Brockville Branch President
ctekamp@sl.on.ca
(613) 345-0660, ext. 3242

The Brockville Branch of the St. Lawrence College Alumni Association continues to raise its profile in the community, as we lend a hand at community events, and as we hold some successful events of our own.

We can't quite rival MacDonald's claim about serving 50 million burgers, but we can claim "over 100 served" at our Oktoberfest Barbeque! On October 19, over 100 students, staff and alumni celebrated Oktoberfest with a sausage and sauerkraut event at the Brockville campus. This informal gathering gave alumni a chance to talk with current students about career choices, student life, and the advantages of being an SLC graduate. Under the persuasive guidance of Mary Ann White, many reluctant students even tried sauerkraut for the first time!

Campus Director Lorraine Carter and I made our Broadway debut (well, okay, local cable tv debut...) when we appeared on the "Talk of the Town" show in October. This exposure gave us a chance to shamelessly promote the college and the benefits alumni! Copies of the taping are now available in spite of our attempts to destroy all the known copies.

The Brockville Branch also took on a project to raise funds for a Child and Youth Worker (CYW) Christmas party for local children who would not otherwise have had a happy Christmas. Several alumni donated items for gift baskets which were raffled, and over $450 was directed to the CYW party fund. Special thanks to Tara Chenier who took the lead on this project.

The Brockville Branch partnered with the local Queen's Alumni branch for a joint "Alumni/ Braves Hockey Night" on Friday, January 18. In addition, we will be staffing the phone lines for the annual Palliative Care Telethon to be held in March. This telethon will be broadcast live on the local cable station, so if you missed Lorraine's and my performance, you can catch us answering phones and raising money for palliative care.

Our biggest ever event will be the "Retro Reunion" pub, set for April 5, 2002! Committees are struck, planning is underway, and hair is being grown for the "long hair, big hair, and no hair" contests! Fabulous prizes, clothing and music from the '70s, '80s and '90s, and a chance to renew friendships and relive those college days should make this event a huge success!

As President, I will chair the Retro Reunion, assisted by my alumni team of Keith Hare, Kevin Frech, Susan Neilsen, Robin Hoy, Mike Bulanda, Tara Chenier, Denis Savage, and Jim Miller.

We can always use volunteers and advice, so for further information, or to offer suggestions, please feel free to contact me at any time.

Brockville Alumni Branch "Retro Reunion" Pub

April 5, 2001 at Brockville Campus

Come back home to SLC! "Come as you were" and dress in those '70s bell bottoms! Gel your hair to achieve that "big hair" '80s look! Prizes will be awarded for the best costume per decade and for the longest hair, biggest hair, and for least hair!

Tickets are $5 in advance at the Customer Service Centre, or at the door. Excellent prizes, major draws, delicious food and good times!!

Attention Welder Fitter Class of '77 (B)

Let's make a special effort to get together to rehash the last 25 years at the Brockville Branch's Retro Reunion Pub on April 5.

CORNWALL

by Bob Laperle
Cornwall Branch President
Ph: 613-933-1720, ext. 246 (w)

The Cornwall Alumni Association held a meeting on November 14, 2001. Many decisions were made concerning activities for the coming year.

- There will be an alumni-sponsored hockey game on Saturday, Feb. 16, '02 at 7:30 pm in the Morrisburg Arena. Come and support the Sharks, the Cornwall Campus' hockey team, which for the last four years has won the College Cup. You make us proud, Sharks!

- Members of the Association Executive will participate in the St. Lawrence College, Cornwall Campus Winter Carnival in February. Planning is in the works.

- The Association will host a "golf day" at the Heritage Golf Club, Lancaster on June 1, '02. Golf fees and a steak dinner will cost $55-$65.

Please circle your calendar and don't hesitate to call the Alumni Office at (613) 933-6080, extension 2571 if you would like more information regarding this event.

- The Association will be organizing another Alumni Dinner and Dance to be held on March 1, 2003. We are hoping that many SLC Alumni will join us for an evening of fun and memories.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the members of the Executive for their support in helping to organize the above events.

The Cornwall Campus has acquired an operational windmill that supplies some electricity to the college. Quite appropriate on "Windmill Point, wouldn't you say?

The Student Recognition Event held Oct. 24 at the Best Western Parkway Inn was a tremendous success. The Alumni Association presented a bursary to Jalpa Naik for her involvement in student activity and community events. Jalpa will soon be joining the ranks of the "Alumni of St. Lawrence".

We hope to see many alumni and friends at our upcoming events.

"Both support roles include resolving day-to-day problems the business experiences with applications, as well as managing both minor and major changes to these applications," Houlden explains. "Minor changes may take a few days and major changes may take the form of projects lasting six to nine months. At any given time, my teams manage 40 to 60 open requests. The business community is located around the world, with the main locations supported being in Ottawa, Belgium, the U.K. and Ireland."

"I enjoy the challenge of turning a business problem into a slick solution using the business application in a new or improved way. My reward is a satisfied customer. When their job is made easier, or they get the information they need to do their job better, then I feel good."

"My goals at this point in my career are to enjoy the next 10 years or so doing the work I love, and then retire to a newly acquired waterfront property on the St. Lawrence River near my hometown of Gananoque."
