CONVOCATION 2022 HONORARY DIPLOMA RECIPIENT

M. Eleanor McGrath - Farmer, Owner, Springfield Farm Organics

Since 2014, M. Eleanor McGrath has run Springfield Farm Organics in Apple Hill, just outside of Cornwall. A proud member of the local farming community, Eleanor is a strong proponent of agritourism and environmental responsibility. She is also an active member of the SDG community, and she is always ready to promote and support colleagues and neighbors, creating partnerships with Indigenous artisans and creators, local farmers and producers, and more. Eleanor also has strong ties with St. Lawrence College and continues to involve SLC students in a number of projects on her farm to help them gain valuable work experience while practicing the lessons they learned in the classroom and making connections within the community.

What does this award mean to you personally?

To receive this Honorary Diploma from St. Lawrence College is a true gift in acknowledging my passion for this community, farming, and the incredible opportunity that Agritourism has for farmers to diversify and share their knowledge with tourists that shows off the many facets of our beautiful region from Akwesasne, Cornwall, and throughout the United Counties of SDG.

How have SLC students or the college in general intersected with your work or community?

In 2017, I was part of the Agri-Food Network and attended a meeting at St. Lawrence College - I was immediately in awe. There was a dynamic engagement throughout the room as the students presented, the professors were there to support, and I came away having met new people who were sincere and excited to engage with farmers.

That meeting led to hosting the Irish Ambassador Jim Kelly at the College while he toured the region, starting to partnership on compost, and working with two programs and their students on finding solutions to challenges we were facing at Springfield Farm.

The students and faculty from School of Business and Supply Chain Management offered a thorough review of Springfield Farm as a business and produced and executed a business plan while providing invaluable assistance to achieve our Agritourism goals. The mentoring by the SLC professors ensured that the projects were successful, and as I stated at our hand-off meetings, that each student demonstrated the ability to interact on our behalf with such professionalism which was more than reassuring as a business owner.

What path have you followed, that sees you here today? What were some ingredients of your success?

I graduated university with a bachelor's degree, major in English, minor in Philosophy and in 1989 we were told not to expect any jobs as the economy was faltering. I started working at a small law firm thinking that it might be a career for me, but at that time, I also hoped one day to have a family and the long hours to put in were daunting.

This led to doing "spot audits" for the Law Society, I used to chuckle thinking here was someone who almost failed math tracking down trust accounts and delinquent lawyers. I wanted something more meaningful, and I contact the Terry Fox Foundation to volunteer, and that is how I began a career in fundraising.

I have been fortunate to work only for causes I believe in, including young single mothers at Rosalie Hall Foundation, the Ireland Fund of Canada, and finally a contract with the Jesuits of English Canada. While fundraising for the Catholic Church and priests is tough slogging, the order was engaged fully in the Truth and Reconciliation Commission at the time and together with my boss, Father Bert Foliot, we created the Truth, Reconciliation and Hope Conference. My heart and mind were opened beyond any expectation. Through my brother-in-law Bruce Roundpoint and my sister Irene Cameron, I was introduced to Grand Chief Joe Norton, Grand Chief Abram Benedict, lacrosse legend Mike Mitchell, and through the Jesuits, to Noel Starblanket, who shared his story that day and I encourage you to read about him. He said: "You have now heard me, you cannot claim ignorance." My husband and I realized from that moment that we have to do more, to listen, to learn and to work to helping achieve a Canada that incorporates all the TRC Calls to Action.

Who has been your biggest inspiration, and why?

The most obvious answer is my parents and family - I am the eldest of eight and in awe of the work, the sacrifices and the lessons of life that I gained through my parents, four brothers and three sisters. My husband, Finbarr has been a true gift in my life, arriving to Canada with only $200 in his pocket from Ireland. My children continue to inspire me, from the day they were born to how they are growing into their own lives with confidence and a gentle humility.

We have been fortunate to be a part of this wonderful community since 2014, and we could not have achieved our Agritourism goals at Springfield Farm without these incredible people, the list is long but worthy: Irene Cameron & Bruce Roundpoint, Trevor Roundpoint, Chad Latreille, Alain Dupuis, Mike and Cora MacGillivray, Norma and Alan Winters, Eric Payseur, Rebecca Mackenzie, Daniel & Nicole Blondin-Geoffrion, Hugo Rodrigues, the Cardinal Family, Jordan Parisien, Anne Tardiff, Paul and Linda Vogel, Luc Lanthier, Remi Sauve, Mike Lalonde, Lesley Thompson, Kylee Tarbell, Clarence McDonald and Bugs - the knowledge and willingness to help us has been more than inspirational, it has been a Godsend.

What words of inspiration/wisdom can you share with SLC graduates?

Take the time to experience the excitement of what lies ahead. When you nail that interview and find a job that puts your hard-earned knowledge to the test, there will be some long hours of work ahead but please quickly establish borders and boundaries that allow you to have a life outside of work. Use up all your talents and they include making time for play, creating, volunteering, and family and friends. Life is ahead of you, and you are not alone, all this knowledge you have gained will carry you through.
